

Hollywood Strike Heads Call Women off Picket Lines; Trouble Feared

Famous Westmore Beauty Salon Damaged by Creosote to Amount of $15,000—Owners are Makeup Executives.

FRICTION DEVELOPS

Federated Crafts and Stage Employes' Association at Odds Over Strike Plans.

Hollywood, May 4 (AP).—The central strike committee, without announcing the reason, called all women marchers of the picket lines surrounding Hollywood motion picture studios today.

An official said the decision was made "after that trouble last night at the Westmore's."

The House of Westmore, extravagant film colony beauty salon, was damaged, the owners said, to the extent of $15,000. Three men and a woman smashed mirrors, ripped carpets and tapestries, and smeared creosote over the establishment.

It is owned by four Westmore brothers. Each is a makeup executive in different major studios. None has joined the makeup artists who are on strike.

Friction and a flare of violence appeared as pickets faced before the rains of the walled film studios of Hollywood today.

The friction was between the striking Federated Motion Picture Crafts and the International Association of Theatrical stage employes, which previously had reached an agreement with the producers.

Federation spokesmen said "camera squads" would be posted at the studio gates to take pictures of members of the other American Federation of Labor affiliate passing through the F. M. P. C. picket lines.
Strikers telegraphed William Green, A. F. of L. president, protesting that the I. A. T. S. E. was attempting to sign them as members.
Charles Lessing, Federated Crafts
head, said he was asking the Los Angeles Central Labor Council to condemn it "as a company union, because of its anti-strike attitude."

One of Hollywood's most luxurious beauty salons, operated by the four Westmore brothers who are makeup executives in four film companies, was splashed with two gallons of creosote last night by three vandals.

Ernest Westmore, an owner, estimated damage at $15,000. He told police he blamed "racketeers," and did not believe the destruction was the work of any makeup workers
from the studios who are on strike.

A janitor, William Powell, said
three men, armed with a pistol and long knife, forced him to admit them.
A woman attendant and a woman customer were threatened while the vandals scattered the creosote over walls, pictures, hangings and carpets.
The Screen Actors' Guild and the producers named committees to confer, beginning tomorrow on the Guild's demands. The chief one is recognition as the sole bargaining agency for motion picture players.

Favor for Mediation Board

Albany, N. Y., May 4 (AP).—Legislation proposing a state board of mediation to promote industrial peace appeared assured today of early consideration following a request by Governor Lehman for
"prompt action on the measure".
Identical bills were introduced by Senator Duncan T. O'Brien and Assemblyman William Schwartz, both
New York city Democrats, immediately after the governor's message urging creation of the board was received by the law makers.

10 Await Trial

Syracuse, N. Y., May 4 (AP).—In-widely separated jails and prisons, 10 men, described in federal court as members of the nation's last organized kidnap ring, today awaited trial
June 2 in Binghamton for the 1933
kidnaping of John J. O'Connell, Jr.
The men, indicted on charges growing out of the abduction of the Albany National Guard lieutenant and the subsequent extortion of $40,000
from his uncles, pleaded innocent at their arraignment yesterday.

Will Probe Auto Insurance

Albany, N. Y., May 4 (AP).—Investigation of the probable cost of compulsory automobile insurance in the state was called for today in a resolution awaiting action of a committee in New York's Senate. The measure, introduced by Senator Julius S. Berg, would create a joint legislative committee of five, assemblismen and three senators to report
their findings not later than March 1, 1938.

Otherwise Normal

San Francisco, May 4 (AP).—An extremist, Bill Kennedy, who will make his professional wrestling debut here today, weighs 465 pounds,
is six foot three, wears size 14
shoes, has a 60-inch waist, is 25 years old and considers four steaks
a comfortable meal.

Falling Birth Rate

Washington, May 4 (AP).—The office of education said today a falling birth rate brought in 1936 the first decline of public school enrollment in the nation's history. An estimate showed 130,000 fewer children were enrolled last fall than the 26,434,193 two years ago.

Open Air Market Is Planned on E. Strand On Riber Bldg. Site

The Board of Public Works is now ready to proceed with the demolition of the former Riber building on East Strand, and to use the site for an open air public market. The city recently acquired the Riber building,
a three story brick structure for the purpose of using the site for public market purposes.

At the office of the board at the city hall it was stated that the board was looking for some reliable men
to take down the building for the material in it. Anyone who would like to tackle the job is requested to get in touch with Superintendent David Conway of the public works board at once.

The public market will front both on Catherine street in the rear and East Strand on the front. The lunch wagon that stood on part of the property was removed some time ago
and is now located on the East
Chester street by-pass.

There has been agitation for a public market downtown for a number of years. For many years during the summer months farmers with their produce have driven into town
and parked their trucks along lower Hastbrouck avenue, which they used for market purposes.

With the establishing of a drive-
in market the public market will be taken off the street. When the site is not being used for a public market
it can be used for a public parking ground. There are no public parking grounds in the downtown business section and by using the proposed public market during the evening and afternoon it will take many cars off the street, and those who desire to patronize the stores
downtown sometimes have difficulty in finding parking space for their cars.

The Riber building which the city
has now acquired has been vacant for some time. When the building is demolished the site will be filled
in and leveled off.

The Board of Public Works is anxious to get at the work of removing the building as quickly as possible so that the public market can be used this summer.

SIGNED BILL OFFERS

PROTECTION OF TENURE

Albany, N. Y., May 4 (AP).—The protection of tenure was extended today to an estimated 9,000 New York State school teachers under a law enacted by Governor Lehman's signature.

The bill, carrying the approval of the State Teachers' Association and the Associated School Boards, provides that teachers who have received a contract following a probationary period, cannot be dismissed except on charges sustained
after a hearing.

It applies to villages having a superintendent of schools and a population of more than 4,500.

Under provisions of the bill, a three-year probationary period is provided before permanent contracts are given teachers. It further provides that village boards of education may require an additional year's probation in the case of any teacher
now in service, who has been employed three years.

Pius XI told Adolf Hitler today that the Catholic Church must be left free to fulfill its mission in Nazi Germany. The pontiff's reply to the replosion in three months. Today's

Milk Price Fixing Gets Passage by Assembly

Albany, N. Y., May 4 (AP).—Milk fixing legislation, arisen from the grave by favorable assembly
action, moved across New York's capitol today to haunt senators intent on clearing their calendar
for early adjournment.

After intense debate that swept across party lines and kept the larger house in session until well
after midnight, the assembly early today passed the Rogers-Allen bill to authorize collective bargaining
for milk price fixing in local areas.
The vote was 80 to 62. It came a few weeks after the legislature permitted price fixing provisions of the State Milk Control Act to lapse April 1.

Senator Corning's bill was approved by the Democratic-controlled Senate finance committee instead of the Hamilton-Garrity bill creating a commission for the same purpose,
but providing for a different set-up on the commission. The Hamilton-Garrity bill was passed in the Assembly April 22 and placed on the calendar in the Senate the next day,
but was later recommitted to committee on motion of Senator Jeremiah F. Twomey, Democrat of Brooklyn, and chairman of Senate finance committee.

Under the Corning bill, the commission would consist of nine members, three of whom would be appointed by the governor, three by the temporary president of the Senate, and three by the speaker of the Assembly. The Hamilton bill would set up a commission consisting of the state conservation commissioner, the chairman of the Senate finance committee, chairman of the Assembly ways and means committee, and five members appointed by the governor.

The purpose back of both measures, is to secure a survey of the state's historic and commercial assets of the Hudson river valley,
and to submit a report at the next session of the legislature, containing the recommendations of the study.

Wider Labor Mediation to Prevent Strikes Is Proposed by Secretary of Labor Perkins

Washington, May 4 (AP).—Secretary Perkins proposed expansion of state labor mediation services today
to help settle and prevent strikes during the development of collective bargaining.

She said in an address prepared for her second labor-industry collective bargaining conference:
"The first of these conferences brought about the understanding that it will be the purpose of management and labor to practice collective bargaining as it is defined in the national labor relations act (Wagner act), now the law of the land under the recent Supreme Court decision."

"Many employers and workers,
however, lack experience in collective bargaining. Because of this there will be need for cooperation

Senate Approves Corning Bill Asking Survey of Hudson

Albany, May 4 (Special).—Approval of the Senate Monday night
was given to the bill of Senator Erastus Corning, 2nd, of Albany,
creating a temporary state commission to make a survey of the Hudson river valley, and appropriating
the sum of $15,000 for its expenses.
The measure now goes to the Assembly for concurrence.

Senator Corning's bill was ap-

Duke Meets 'Woman I Love,' After 5 Months of Exile, at Romantic Chateau de Cande

Flood Control Work Loses to Roosevelt Economy Program

Washington, May 4 (AP).—Administration efforts to cut the cost of government brought recommendations
today for postponement of additional flood control projects and a $162,000,000 army housing program.

Chairman Whittington (D-Miss.)
of the House flood control committee said hearings on emergency flood control measures would be delayed indefinitely.

President Roosevelt, he explained,
had asked that action be put off until completion of a study of flood control relation to power development and navigation aids.

The President sent the committee
an army report on revised plans for control work on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, where serious floods occurred early this year. Whittington
said:

"If we don't get a change in the situation there will be no legislation
this Congress—and that area is where the big loss occurred."

Mr. Roosevelt asked that the amount of money to be spent be considered "in the light of the budgetary necessities of the government."

May Plan for Nation

Some members predicted the President might discuss in a message to Congress a national system of flood control, power, aviation and land conservation, possibly based on the Tennessee valley authority idea.

A report that the budget bureau
had rejected the army's big housing program was followed quickly by the announcement of Rep. Havenner (Prog-Calif.) that he would ask $4-008,000 to carry out one of the rejected items for San Francisco.

Almost simultaneously, Secretary
Swanson asked appropriation of $18,986,000 for construction of naval buildings and other projects.

Among the items were a training school and barracks at New London, Conn.; new buildings and additional land at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii; storage buildings at San Diego and Oakland, Calif., and various radio improvements.

Predicts Cut in Relief Funds

While Rep. Woodrum (D-Va.)
predicted relief funds would be cut to a flat billion dollars next year—$500,000,000 less than Mr. Roosevelt suggested—Rep. Beller (D-N. Y.) asked that $300,000,000 of the allotment be devoted to public works projects.

Beller, spokesman for a "public works bloc," told reporters 227 representatives were supporting the contention that municipal public works, aided by federal funds, still are needed.

Secretary Ickes, appearing before
a house subcommittee yesterday, advocated extension of the public works administration for two more years. The group is studying proposals to allot sums up to $445-000,000 for P. W. A.

Woodrum, its acting chairman,
said there probably would be little objection to extending PWA's life,
but he added:

"An fight probably will center on propositions to make additional appropriations."

Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.), a leading economy advocate, discounted in a speech last night reports of disagreement between senate leaders and the President over economy methods.

"We have the same objective and can settle any differences as to methods," he said.

WEDDING RUMORS

Rumors Fly About That Couple
May Confound World on Wednesday by Marrying.

Monts, France, May 4 (AP).—Edward, Duke of Windsor, was reunited in the moss-covered Castle de Cande today with the woman for whom he renounced an empire, Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Five months and one day of enforced loneliness for the former King Edward VIII and "the woman I love" ended at 1:45 p. m. (7:45 a.
m. Eastern Standard Time), when the gay duke, like a knight returning to his damsel fair, reached the ancient chateau.

He came from St. Wolfgang, Austria, by train and by motor. His betrothed was free to marry him,
and that was what was foremost in their hearts. He had not seen her since the dark night of December 3,
when she fled to France from the ab-dication crisis that changed crowns
for a quarter of the world.

Breathless and Radiant

Breathless and radiant, Wallis Simpson met her beloved on the doorstep to the rambling chateau.

Preceded by a motorcycle policeman, the limousine sent for the duke by Mrs. Simpson roared through the gates. A truck, packed with Edward's seventeen suitcases, panted
along behind.

Edward was an hour overdue and his fiancée's excitement had mounted by the minute. From Verneuil, from where the duke left the Arberg express, the motor trip consumed
four long hours.

Takes Wallis in Arms

The duke leaped from the car. He dashed to the threshold. There he took the wide-eyed Wallis tenderly in his arms. They went inside the castle, arm in arm.

Twenty mobile guards and two squads of eight gendarmes each paced the grounds impassively, all in their best and brightest uniforms.
The Tours police chief and his aide watched with a critical eye; hustled obediently about the place.

At the entrance lodge, the old lady of the gateway had put on a bonnet of Touraine lace for the gala
day. For two hours she had been standing, almost motionless, waiting to open the portals.

"This," said the old lady with a shrug, "is a thing I rarely do—put on my bonnet. But—viola—it is memorable day!"

Gay With Flowers

Within the mossy chateau, its great rooms gay with masses of lilies, tulips and yellow acacia, a small house party had waited lunchoon for Edward.

But Mrs. Simpson had been unable to stay inside. During the morning she walked in the garden, alone.

The day started out grey and chilly, but an hour before the Duke arrived the sun burst out to show the countryside in all its splendor.

A knot of villagers had gathered outside the gates, with waiting newspapermen, to see the Duke.

A truck loaded with live pigs paused for a moment in the road and the griled driver gazed with mild curiosity at the crowd. An Englishwoman, on a tour from London, outdid the newspaper photographers
in taking pictures of everything in sight.

Britons' Hats Removed

As the Duke's car passed, every English newspaperman removed his hat.

Edward wore a black overcoat, but no hat. He leaned forward, smiling, and waved to the newspapermen.

Members of Edward's entourage,
a short time after his arrival, disclosed the duke was in favor of an early announcement of the marriage
plans.

That announcement, it was indicated, might be forthcoming as soon as Edward and his fiancée have had time to discuss the arrangements.
Rumors flew thick and fast that the couple might again confound the world by marrying tomorrow. However, both the mayor of Tours and the mayor of Monts said they had not been approached to perform the ceremony.

Radiantly Happy

Monts, France, May 4 (AP).—
Radiantly happy, Wallis Warfield
Simpson counted the minutes today
to a reunion with the man who preferred her love to empire.

Speeding southwest across France
in a limousine she sent to carry him was Edward, Duke of Windsor, bound for romantic rendezvous and—as certain reports had it—to discuss marriage plans with "the woman I love."

The former British monarch, sun-tanned and fresh from 23 weeks of self-imposed exile in Austria, was expected to arrive at Chateau de Cande, near here, about lunch time.

Internal Revenue Collectors Will Check Employers

Following receipt of complaints to the regional office of the social security board and to the bureau of internal revenue reporting violations of the social security act, a meeting was held today in the office of Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, regional director of the social security board, at 45 Broadway, New York city, which was attended by Almon G. Rasquin, James J. Hoey and Joseph T. Higgins, collectors of internal revenue for the first, second and third districts of New York. The general types of complaints received were reviewed and plans were formulated to expedite their handling.

"We have in our service a large staff of field deputy collectors who will proceed at once to investigate all cases which are reported to the board or to our offices," the collectors stated. "We are deeply interested not only in protecting the revenues of the United States from being depleted by nonpayment of taxes, but we are determined to assure to workers the protection the social security act intends to afford."

"We believe that the time is past when any substantial number of persons can honestly plead ignorance of the law," it was further stated by the collectors. "We have no wish to be severe towards those who promptly take steps to remedy their past non-compliance when such non-compliance may possibly have been attributable to lack of complete information. But we intend now to immediately detect and penalize employers who have willfully violated the provisions of the social security act. Willful failure to comply with the act is an offense punishable by severe tax penalties, and criminal prosecution. The penalties are exactly the same as those for income tax evasion."

Among the types of complaints discussed were the following: Reports where deductions had been made by the employer from the employees under the social security act and where returns on such deductions were not made to the bureau of internal revenue.

Reports where no deductions had been made and where no return had been filed by the employer.

Reports where employers had not taken a record of the social security account numbers assigned to employees and so could not report fully and accurately on individual employees.

Reports where employers were going out of business and had not given detailed reports as required on individual employee's earnings.

The collectors stressed the fact that failure to report taxes is a fraud on the employees and such employer is diverting to his own use money which he holds in trust for the United States. Failure of an employer to collect from his employees does not relieve the employer from responsibility, it was also emphasized. Complete and accurate payroll records must be kept in order to enable the employer to file periodic information returns, the first of which will cover the period from January 1, through June 30, 1937. These information returns will notify the government of the amount of wages paid to each individual employee, and upon this information will be based the records of the social security board showing the wages credited to each individual's account for purposes of measuring eventual old age benefits.

"Employees who report violations of the social security act will aid the collectors in their investigation and prosecutions," it was stated at the meeting. "Because of reports from employees, we can dispatch our field officers directly to the trouble spots, instead of having to detect violations unassisted. But, in any event, we intend to commence a vigorous check-up on all employers to assure ourselves that their tax returns have been properly made, and to examine their payroll records."

Collector Harry M. Hickey, operating from Albany, will cover Ulster, Dutchess, Sullivan, Orange and Putnam counties.

A Candid Talk: JOSEPH P. KENNEDY Tackles The 'Lousiest Job' In Washington

1 "They tell me I've got the lousiest job in Washington," muses Joseph P. Kennedy, who as newly confirmed chairman of the United States maritime commission, is President Roosevelt's selection to put the lagging U. S. merchant fleet back into world competition.

2 "What makes the job lousy are the old shipping board troubles," explains the man who made the Securities and Exchange commission a success. "So I'll start my new job by insisting that everything the maritime commission does must be open to public gaze."

3 Just as speed gauged success on the ocean, then, so speed must tell the tale today, he believes, if the United States is going to compete with other powers for ocean trade and assure herself of a merchant fleet in the event of war in other parts of the world.

4 "With that in mind we'll let a contract for a new ocean liner to replace the old Leviathan in the Atlantic trade." And if Kennedy makes a go of his new job he'll be F.D.R.'s ace administrator. What are the chances? "Check me again in a year or so," he says.

MILTON

Milton, May 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neuwirth have been having their residence painted. Edward Dekoskie of Highland has been doing the painting which has made a great improvement.

The Milton Firemen's baseball team will play its opening game on Sunday afternoon, May 9, at Young's Park across from Strawberry Acres Inn, at 2 o'clock sharp. The team will be under the management of Leonard Freer, who is manager. Patrick Mataraza is assistant manager.

The booking of games will be under the supervision of Thomas Gavin, booking manager.

A meeting of the Ladies' Needlecraft and Women's Missionary Societies will be held on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Adeline Smith will be hostess.

Joseph Spratt of Geneva, formerly of Milton, was inducted as Exalted Ruler of Geneva Order of Elks at a recent meeting of the organization.

Mrs. James Scott, recently elected president of the Milton P. T. A., was guest speaker at a meeting of the Central Grammar School P. T. A. in Newburgh. Mrs. Scott's topic was "Art in Everyday Life."

County Grange Deputy J. Harold Story of Ulster was a guest at the meeting of the Milton Grange Monday evening. During the lecture about the Boy Scouts under the direction of Principal Carl Ernest and Albert Kingsley, presented a one-act play.

Miss Everice Parsons was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Young Women's Club in the home of Miss Dorothy Jennison Friday evening. Clothing was the subject discussed.

L. D. Martine will put up six more tourist cottages. They arrive ready made and will be placed at the back of his property where they will afford a fine river view.

A game and card party was sponsored for the benefit of the Milton library by the Maida and Mairons Society at the Grange Hall Friday evening. The net proceeds of the Choral Club spring concert Friday evening, May 21, will also be for the library.

Miss Annie Clarke, who has been spending the winter in Florida, returned to her home last Friday.

The changing times are reflected in Milton at present as never before. The steamboat dock, where for over a century Hudson river steamers and sailing sloops have tied to unload or take on cargo, has so far given way to the gasoline age that its buildings are to be used as a storage place for the big oil trucks of the Shell Corp. These trucks are among the chief competitors of the river transportation that formerly made Milton one of the most important points on the Hudson. Ever since the Shell Eastern Company took over the property and began making Milton its mid-Hudson distributing base the dock has been in use as a receiving station for oil and gasoline that is pumped to it from the fuel barges. The buildings adjoining that were formerly used for freight storage and the Townsend offices have been virtually out of use. Now the corporation is putting them to useful purpose. They are being used as a garage for storing the fleet of four trucks. The vehicles have already been kept at the Raymond Shurtler garage, but for this summer at least they will be housed in the dock building. Another new truck is expected to be put to use shortly.

Mr. Wood, who has been engaged by the Shell Oil Corp. as painting contractor on its jobs, was in Milton recently making arrangements to move here or to Marlborough with his family to make their home. He is living at present in Westchester county.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Milton library held Thursday, April 22, it was voted to have a drive for funds to carry on the work of the library. This drive will be the first two weeks in May. Everybody will help we are sure we can carry on the good work of the library.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press

Magic
Boonville, Ind.—The Boonville Building and Loan Association long has brightened its mundane tasks by having love birds in its office. One died, and the survivor pined with loneliness.

But a substitute was obtained. It didn't look much like a bird to humans, but it did to the love bird. It was done with a mirror.

Heavenly Alarm
Evansville, Ind.—The fire alarm clanged at the Culver school. Teachers quickly ushered all pupils out into a driving rainstorm, and then looked for the fire.

They found none, learned that a bolt of lightning had set the alarm system ringing. The pupils were sent home to dry out.

In Other Pocket?
San Diego, Calif.—A 3,000-pound street scraper has disappeared. It was last seen in the center of the former exposition midway site, April 10.

Since then, the scraper which requires the services of a heavy duty tractor to move it, has been "misplaced, borrowed or stolen," according to a report from the street superintendent's office to the police.

A New Red
Morris, Neb.—The boys in Lew Smith's barber shop will miss that unhappy Indian who for 20 years was the center of interest in an unfinished oil painting in the shop.

An itinerant artist who carried the perturbed redskin on his conscience

all these years, returned quietly the other day, painted the Indian and his canoe into the stream, and left. "He told me 20 years ago he would be back to finish it," said Smith of the artist whose name he failed to get.

No Crop Control
Kansas City—Someone wrote W. H. Dunn, superintendent of parks, to ask what he is going to do about the abundance of dandelions this wet spring.

Said Dunn: "In my forty years in the parks department, I've learned that some years dandelions are bad and some years they are not so bad. About the only way to get rid of them is to plow up the ground and start over. Of course, we can't do that."

Faithful Mary Tells of Divine's Activities

Duke Meets Wallis At Chateau Today

Faithful Mary told her story about going on in the Father Divine heavens to the Ulster county grand jury, Monday afternoon, it is presumed, the same as she did to reporters prior to receiving the summons from District Attorney Closson B. Murray to appear for an investigation concerning one "John Doe."

Besides Mary, two others, John Victory, her chauffeur, and Merrinase Truth, still a Divine follower, were before the grand jury. Three other Divinities were subpoenaed, but did not go before the jury. They will get their chance next Tuesday when the investigation is resumed. Until then matters in the Divine case will rest.

Those to be brought in Tuesday are Great Love, Beauty Smile, and Ascension Moonlight.

District Attorney Murray, questioning the witnesses as to their parentage, etc., in his office, met with the usual replies given by the cult members, that they bear no record of parentage, race, color or creed.

"God is all, Father Divine is God; therefore he is our father and our mother," they said.

After the investigation, Faithful Mary, accompanied by John Victory and Charlotte Allen, her secretary, filed out of the court house between two lines of spectators, stepped into her Buick limousine, she purchased last week, and sped off to Peace Market at High Falls.

Father Divine was not present, neither were any of his followers, except those subpoenaed to testify before the jury.

Sheriff Holyneaux looked for a demonstration on the part of the cultists, similar to those common in New York, when Father Divine is involved in legal tangles, but nothing happened.

Sunday, the sheriff said, "I am prepared to handle any disorder that might occur, and if any demonstrations are conducted outside the court house, those who conduct them will be arrested."

Although the assemblage of on-lookers numbered more than 200, it did not come up to the crowd expected to turn out for the arrival and departure of Faithful Mary.

The district attorney would make no comment concerning yesterday's procedure, but it is presumed that after Tuesday's session of the grand jury there will be some interesting matters for publication.

A. & P. STORES TO CLOSE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOONS

The stores of The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company in New England and Northeastern New York State will close every Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock throughout the year, with the exception of those stores in Summer resort points which will not close during the Summer months. This new schedule of a half holiday each week for all the store employees will become effective Wednesday, May 12.

This schedule will include all the city stores except the super market on Cornell street, the market at 350 Broadway and the Wall street market. The employees in these stores will enjoy the holiday, being replaced by other workers.

In commenting upon the new schedule yesterday, H. M. Anderson, vice president said in part: This is one of the plans that has been uppermost in our minds for a long time. We have always felt that the hours in the food business were too long and it has been our aim to reduce them. Sometime ago, we changed the opening hour of the store in the morning from 7:30 to eight o'clock. Too, we have cut down the closing time from 6:30 to six o'clock, and the Saturday night closing hour in many points has been reduced considerably from what it used to be. We already give to each manager and full time clerk two weeks' vacation with full pay for three years' continuous service and one week for one year's continuous service. We have established minimum rates of salary, which provide that no manager will receive less than $35 a week and no clerk who works the store hours will be paid less than $18 a week with full additional pay for any overtime. Even our newest clerks and the young fellows who are called "delivery boys" are now paid a minimum of 31 cents an hour. Furthermore, we have in effect a very liberal policy in connection with sickness salaries in addition to our group insurance.

Clarence Peck's Decree.

In an action for divorce brought by Clarence Peck, plaintiff, against Ethel May Peck, defendant, plaintiff has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Justice Harry E. Schrick. Defendant, a waitress in a Kingston restaurant, and the plaintiff were married at Kingston May 4, 1931, and the acts upon which the decree is based are alleged to have been committed at the home of defendant on Henry street, Kingston, in November of 1935. Maurice A. Baker appeared for plaintiff.

Emulsified asphalt is one of the best coverings for tree wounds.

were understood to be arrangements for the marriage between Mrs. Simpson and the former Edward VIII, but it was not expected these would materialize until after the May 12 coronation of George VI who succeeded his brother.

An absolute decree of divorce for Mrs. Simpson against Ernest Aldrich Simpson, a London ships' broker, opened the way yesterday to her third marital venture.

Not in Evidence

Mrs. Simpson did not come out on the grounds where some 50 newspapermen were received by Rogers. He said she would not go forth to meet Edward preferring to meet him first within the Chateau De Candé.

Mrs. Simpson fled England during last December's abdication crisis. She filed her divorce action October 14 and received a decree nisi October 27.

Helpers about the chateau said she was the most excited of all the small party waiting to welcome the duke, showing the nervous thrill of watching and waiting.

Edward was whisked away from

Verneuil by automobile at about 9:30 a. m. (3:30 a. m. E. S. T.) when the Arberg Express carrying him from Austria ground to a special stop to permit a speedier trip to Monts. He thus avoided Paris.

Police Escort

A police escort of six motorcycle officers preceded him and two other automobiles as they sped into Touraine Province.

The duke carried with him a box of Edelweiss for Mrs. Simpson and a mysterious steel box thought to contain jewelry. He had picked the flowers himself while on a mountain hike in Austria.

Another box in the baggage taken off the train at Verneuil contained a Tyrolean peasant costume for his fiancée. The steel box was carried to the limousine by a policeman, a chauffeur and the duke's butler.

Snooky III

Edward's terrier, Snooky, recovered from train sickness that kept his master from getting very much sleep, rode in the car with the former monarch. The duke had washed and combed the animal on the train before reaching Verneuil. The arrival at Verneuil was witnessed by about two score of the village's 744 inhabitants, who ranged in a semi-circle about the station platform in the few minutes between arrival and departure.

Edward greeted the chauffeur of the car Mrs. Simpson had sent with a hearty handshake. One closed car and a light truck had come from the chateau. The second limousine contained British embassy officials. A third car was provided by police for the duke's adjutant and butler.

Passengers on the Paris-bound train reported they heard the duke tell an Austrian detective who left him at the Swiss border: "See you again in about two months."

Maple Hill Card Party

The second of the series of card parties sponsored by the Maple Hill P. T. A. will be held Friday evening, May 7, at 8:15 in the school. The proceeds of the parties are for playground equipment. The public is cordially invited. Music for dancing will be furnished by the Ginger Snaps.

Jelico-Schilling Trial Still On

Trial of the action brought by Jelico Realty, Inc., against F. J. Schilling Furniture Co., continued in County Court today before Judge Frederick G. Traver and a jury.

The case involves payment of rent alleged to be due and a counterclaim for damages to furniture and machinery said to have been caused by a leaky roof.

Trial of the action started Monday afternoon and will probably continue over to Wednesday.

Gas Tax Seems Assured Today

Albany, N. Y., May 4 (AP)—Passage by the Assembly of Governor Lehman's proposed fourth cent of gasoline tax today seemed certain as a Democratic spokesman said he "had the two votes necessary."

Agreement to pass the controversial measure was reached late yesterday. Assembly "budget balancing" would pave the way for adjournment of the legislature late this week.

ROTTEN BURLESQUE

There is consternation among the burlesque theatres in New York,
 since the district attorney started swooping down on them and arresting "strip tease artists." He really should have arrested the theatre managers. Or "artists" and managers together. For the kind of drama operating in the metropolis,
 and in other large American cities—
 and also in some cities not so large—
 is worse than anything ever tolerated before in this country. Indeed, in the matter of indecency and smut
 and all-round rottenness, visible and audible, it is probably worse than anything which can be found open to the general public in Old World cities.

There has been a vigorous assault
 on the New York burlesque houses
 by New York clergymen and others interested in theatrical decency. It is really a mess which theatrical people themselves should clean up. But if they will not, the job should be done for them. There is a place for burlesque, but burlesque can be reasonably decent. The illegitimate sort, growing bolder and rotter,
 tends to contaminate the whole living theatre. In comparison, American moving pictures have been very decent.

HIGH TOLL IN RURAL AREAS

Death swings a vicious scythe on rural highways. Commissioner Harnett points out in citing figures for the first three months of this year.
 In urban areas where accident frequency is far greater, the fatality rate is lower than in rural areas. In Ulster county, since the first of the year the highway death toll has reached the ghastly toll of eleven.

Reckless driving in the rural areas is undoubtedly responsible for the large death toll and if this slaughter
 on the highways is to be stopped, the reckless driver must be curbed. The type of driver who willfully disregards traffic signals and rules in the urban areas is the driver who when in the country will cut in, pass on curves and hills and drive at unreasonable speed and crowd others from the road into ditches. These are the bad driving habits which make travel on the highways hazardous.

At this season of the year when motoring is greatly enjoyed in the rural sections a heavy increased traffic is noticed and the reckless driver,
 who gambles with other lives as well as his own, should lose his license and be kept from behind the steering wheel.

It would be well for motorists before driving out into the country to remember that although there are no traffic lights and other city rules and regulations that common sense must be exercised. It is as necessary to be careful when driving in the rural areas as in the urban centers.

NEW CARS FOR REDS

Bolshevism, if that system still exists in Russia today, is certainly sprucing up. The improvement in the attire of the Muscovites, especially, is well known; working women dress in silks when they can get them, and men who used to be proud of their sloppiness now wear white collars and neckties and shine their shoes.

But the streets of the capital have not improved as rapidly as the people. They are full of very ancient and disreputable automobiles. And this is very bad, because the government wants foreign tourists to come and spend their money and be converted to Communism, and knows the old jalopies make a bad impression. So the jalopies in Moscow and other important cities are to go.
 They will be banished to the country. The owners will be required, by official decree, to exchange their old cars for new ones. And in order to accomplish this exchange, the government itself will extend credit to individuals and state organizations
 for two years.

Here is something our own government, doesn't seem to have thought of. There are an awful lot of wrecks limping around the streets of American cities. It would be lovely if all the cars we had to look at were new and smart. But our government has other troubles that may take precedence. And besides, our country might not be able to absorb all the city jalopies.

IRISH INDEPENDENCE

The First of May may be Ireland's Fourth of July. The Irish Free State wasn't free enough. The new constitution, declaring Ireland a "sovereign, independent democratic state," is certainly a resounding echo of 1776. The language is different from Jefferson's. It doesn't start exactly with the words, "When, in the course of human events," and end with the announcement that the component parts of Ireland "are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states," but that is the general idea. Northern Ireland still holds aloof, but De Valera is hopeful.

And will Ireland, alias Eire, get away with it? Perhaps. The Irish George Washington has already achieved the substance; what remains is little more than recognition of the status quo. But Britain will probably insist on some slight tie for her own protection. And some tie may be desirable for Ireland, with Europe full of big, bad wolves, and with the dreadful example of Spain next door.

REDUCING WEIGHT

A physician doing special work on metabolism (rate at which the body processes work) tells his patients that very few overweight
 need any drug or gland extract;
 that the overweight is simply the result of overeating, and there is no use making any attempt to reduce weight unless they are willing to cut down to a large extent on the daily intake of food. If they are unwilling to cut down on the food intake for the sake of their appearance he then warns them of the danger of overweight.

Thus at the obesity or overweight
 clinic at the Mount Sinai Hospital, Dr. Charles Markson gives every patient full information in printed form as follows:
 "Overweight increases the strain on the heart and kidneys. This extra strain often results in diseases
 of the heart, bloodvessels and kidneys. Overweight, aside from causing fatigue and bodily discomfort,
 is also known to be an important factor in causing diabetes.
 These complications generally appear after the age of forty. To lessen these dangers and so increase your chances of health and long life, you must begin early and make a serious and constant effort to keep your weight at a normal level.
 A strict diet is the first essential in the reduction treatment of overweight. You must learn to use or exercise this strong will, otherwise the result is bound to be disappointing.
 Drugs which help to reduce weight are very dangerous and must only be taken when prescribed by your doctor. When taking these drugs you must report to the clinic
 as often as requested.
 See that you get plenty of fresh air.
 Do not take more than 5 glasses
 of fluid a day, to include any form
 of liquid—water, soup, milk, tea, coffee, soft or hard drinks. A steam bath once or twice a week
 is helpful. Take cold showers frequently; this increases the body's energy expenditure.
 Keep bowels active with Epsom
 salts twice a week.
 Exercise is essential, particularly for those who usually sit down most of the day. The ideal form of exercise is walking. Begin with a brisk walk for one half hour, gradually increasing the length of time by ten minutes a day, until it has reached two hours."
 A diet of about 1250 calories (about half the average diet) per day is given and patients are advised that the first two weeks will be the hardest; if they stick to it,
 the body and digestive organs will become adjusted to the small diet
 and after these first two weeks life will look worth while again.

MURDER
ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS. Attractive Jude Blinshop is shot to death on a wild and stormy night at Fer-rington Bluff, home of Michael's aunt. Mike discovers a shoulder hunting for the missing Skipper,
 his tall and tawny younger sister who turns up with an alibi. Gay Palmer, Mike's red-headed sister-heart, worries about him. Next day, stout and prudish Aunt Mar-
 the gets me to lead a group in investigation of the murder. (The storm maroons us on this island.)
 Suddenly we find Cook knocked out by a flower pot and Annie the maid bound up. I start questioning everyone.

Chapter 16

"You're All Lying!"

IT HAD BEEN 9:30 by my watch when the Skipper went upstairs. That sprightly conversation in the hall
 might have taken five minutes, but probably less. And in any case, according to Michael, the conference in the game-room must have ended
 shortly after I went into the library.
 "And just why didn't you rejoin
 the party?"
 Michael swallowed. "Jude had a letter to write and I decided to go out and have a look at things—the chintheys and bridge and all that." I could have wrung his neck. If he eyes. "I don't—Yes, it must be." He went on staring at it, fascinated.

 "But there is nothing to indicate that Michael took it to the kitchen."
 That was M. Farrington, bristling like a mother hen. "Surely one's handkerchief case is not under lock and key.
 It would be a simple matter for anyone to—"
 For the first time in my life I interrupted M. Farrington, and I did it rudely. "Yes, I know," I said. "But it rather conclusively proves that the person who buried that pot at Cook's has been in the house long enough to be either borrowing or stealing handkerchiefs."
 I should have had sense enough to realize the danger of putting all my cards on the table, but it was blurted out beyond recall. And in characteristic ways every person in the room
 reacted to the statement.
 M. Farrington's hand flew to her throat with a quivering "Oh!" The Skipper suddenly bolt upright, her face stern. Instinctively Gay clutched Mike's arm, and they huddled together. Beyond them I caught a glimpse of Higgins' face and of William, rigidly motionless. Annie and Cook began to jabber meaninglessly.
 With an almost mechanical rhythm
 we eyed each other—your—your—your?
 It was horrible. Had a board creaked or a window rattled, I firmly believe that we should all have dived for shelter under the nearest pieces of furniture. But nothing creaked.
 You? You? You?
 The Skipper broke the spell. She

"You're lying!" I shouted.

had to lie to me, why in hell couldn't he lie plausibly? My hand came down on the desk with a thump.

"If you're all guilty, there's no point in my going on with this. If you're not, you might be deceiv-ing enough to tell the truth!"

M. Farrington's voice broke the deadly silence.

"You feel that someone has been untruthful, James?"

"Untruthful!" I fairly howled.
 "You're lying, every damned one of you! Do you expect me to read your minds?"

The atmosphere was charged with something I could not place, something unhappy and a little eerie.

There was no answer, even from M.
 Farrington. I should have done anything but what I did do, which was nothing more nor less than to lose my head completely.

Fervently I hurled questions at the rest of them at Gay, at William, at Annie, at Higgins, at Cook. I wasted just that much breath. They knew nothing, any of them. They had gone to bed at hours-varying from Cook's nine o'clock to Higgins' eleven. Gay had taken aspirin and gone to sleep.
 Cook had slept naturally. William,
 Annie and Higgins admitted to not sleeping, but had heard absolutely nothing but the storm.

"And no one here went into the kitchen at any other time?" My sense of futility increased with every second of that pause. I whirled on Michael.

His chin came up aggressively.
 "No!"

My next gesture was even more foolhardy. I reached in my pocket.

"Then how did this get into the kitchen?" I demanded, and thrust in front of him the handkerchief I had found in the entry.

Exposing All My Cards

THEY all stared. All except M. Farrington. I think, realized what it was. Slowly the red mounted in his face. He reached for the thing, and I thought that he started as his eye caught the faintly executed name in one corner. His voice was the voice of a man who had been hit on the head.

"I don't know." His fingers played absently with the thing. "I don't know." He sat down slowly.

"But it's yours?"
 He passed a hand vaguely over his pushed back her chair with a clatter.

 "This is ridiculous! Why should anyone in this room strike Cook or Annie? Any one of us could go into the kitchen for a dozen reasons. There's someone else in this house, Jim. And a person who forced his way through locked doors would have no difficulty in finding a handkerchief."

A Low Agonized Whimper

"I WAS merely supposing," I said.
 "I'm in a nasty spot, and I'm not trying to wriggle out of it. I'm simply putting it up to you. The murderer is either in this room or at large in the house. If he or she is here, a search would provide a good opportunity for more devilry. If not, and we fail to search, we are leaving ourselves at the mercy of somebody who has already killed one of us. I'm leaving it up to you. I won't take the responsibility. What shall we do?"

"Search," said the Skipper promptly.
 "Does anyone have a different opinion?" I said.

Breathless silence.

"Very well. I'll all go. There are nine of us." I fell some rapid arithmetic. Four men—one along in years and one incapacitated. Of the five women, Gay alone looked capable of walking across a room without staggering. In my coat pocket my fingers brushed the revolver with which I had disgraced myself earlier in the day.

Higgins. I said, "Take this revolver and stand on the landing. If anyone don't know shows up in either hall, you are to shoot, do you understand? And shoot straight. William—Miss Palmer, Mr. Michael, and Miss Farrington are to go with you.
 Keep check on every member of your party, and be sure that Higgins is at his post as you come out of every room. We'll search this room now.
 Then you wait in the hall and give Higgins moral support. When we finish the first room upstairs, we'll finish Higgins and you can go through the next one down here, and so on.
 Make sure of all the doors and—"
 From the hall came a sound—a low agonized whimper that cut short my orders as if by the push of a button. It came from the hall and with it came another sound—a slow, soft shuffling.
 It was coming nearer—nearer! The hair on my neck was prickling.

Nearer—nearer—It was in the room. For a moment I could not see a thing, but one step brought me within full range of the open door.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Jon Whitcomb is one of New York's more energetic illustrators. He doesn't sit

Jon Whitcomb

He is, in the parlance of the day, riding high just now. Art editors can't get enough of his stuff. The other morning he was discussing a recent trip to Florida, and the telephone jangled so insistently
 that he answered it himself.

The editor of a great monthly magazine wanted him to illustrate
 a special story. Whitcomb said,
 "Wait a minute," consulted his book, and went back to the phone.
 "I'm sorry," he said, "but I can't touch it until May 15th." Thus he dismissed an assignment that would have run into the hundreds of dollars.

HOWEVER, the ones occupying him now are worth just as much—as, for instance, "Castle Key," in Colliers. This is a long continued story, and in the midst of his illustrations, Whitcomb
 found it necessary to hurry down
 to Florida for some accurate landscape stuff. Being an Ohio boy, he wasn't familiar with the curl of palms and the drape of Spanish
 moss as it grows in the deep south.

Down there he had to do some boating, taking photographs from the choppy sea. "I was a very bad sailor," he recalls gingerly. "I had to cling to the rail with one hand
 and my camera with the other,
 while becoming ill in a most un-dignified fashion."

For all his current affluence, Whitcomb doesn't plan to become careless. There are bad illustrations, and you're through—just as a bad
 picture or two will kill an actor.

WHITCOMB is a driving worker
 with an almost sadistic passion for fidelity in detail—even the smallest, most unimportant matters. Hence his rush jaunt to Florida.

Now that he is occupied so heavily, his recreation is limited to midnight rides in the park, to clear the cobwebs out of his brain, and to playing the piano in his Beaux Arts apartment for his own amusement, which he does raucously but well.

The Broken Stairs

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THERE was indeed a storm. The lightning flashed and the thunder crashed and the rain came pouring down. Willy Nilly was in his little house with Rip, the dog.
 The lamb had taken shelter in the shed where Willy Nilly kept his automobile Two-Ways. The bears were in their cave, Top Notch,
 the rooster, was in his General Store,
 and the ducks were with Top Notch.

But there was one crash of thunder that seemed unlike all the others. In fact, Willy Nilly did not think it was thunder. It sounded more like a house falling down, or at least part of a house.

"What do you think that could have been, Rip?" he asked his faithful dog.

"I'll run out and see," Rip barkingly answered.

Wait a moment or so," said Willy Nilly. Then, when the little man realized that the thunder and lightning had stopped and that the rain was having its own way, he
 said:

"All right. But please don't be gone long. I don't like to have my animal friends separated from me.
 Christopher Columbus Crow has been gone long enough."

In a little while Rip returned.
 His tail was between his legs. His silky ears drooped.

"What is it?" Willy Nilly asked,
 looking worried.

"I don't like to tell you," answered Rip.

"But you must tell me," Willy Nilly insisted.

"The stairs are broken," Rip said. "I've just been over to the Empty House."

"What do you mean the noise we heard?"
 Willy Nilly asked.

Rip nodded. "The elephant's
 weight was too great," he sighed.

Erosion control work of the Soil Conservation Service in many parts of the country has been carried on largely by groups of specialists working together—agronomists, agricultural engineers, soils scientists, plant specialists, and others. The widespread and increasing interest in soil conservation, however, calls for a new "specialist" trained in all phases of erosion control technique. Soil conservation courses in colleges and universities and educational work in CCC camps aim to develop these specialists.

Modern Ark Dwellers
Beat Rent And Taxes

POSTMAN RINGS DAILY
 Californians who live in rent-free arks over the tidelands enjoy all the comforts of home—even mail which is left regularly in the rough-hewn letter boxes.

San Francisco (AP)—Noah paid no rent or taxes and neither do several thousand modern ark dwellers of the California tidelands.

By building their homes on stilts
 over the water they avoid owning real estate, yet some of the houses are large, modern and almost luxurious.

The submerged land is owned in most cases by the state and the builders have only precarious squatters' rights. The shoals, however, are commercially useless so nobody seems to object. In a few cases private owners assess their uninvited guests a dollar a year.

Many a modern Noah not only avoids rent and taxes but by fishing
 from his "front porch" keeps food bills down.

Pulitzer Awards for 1937 Announced By New York Board

New York, May 4 (AP)—Margaret Mitchell wrote 1,037 pages for "Gone with the Wind," but she could find only four words with which to greet the news that her book had won the annual Pulitzer prize.

"I'm astounded," was the first reaction of the Atlanta author. She dropped for words. Then—

"I'm overwhelmed."

The award for the novel of Civil War days in Georgia carried with it $1,000 in cash.

Miss Mitchell—in private life Mrs. John R. Marsh—was one of 14 men and women honored with the Pulitzer awards in journalism and letters, announced last night by the trustees of Columbia University.

Criticism of Play.
An undercurrent of criticism greeted the award to the play, "You Can't Take It With You," by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, as the best "original American play" performed in New York.

Burns Mantle, drama critic of the New York Daily News, who last year criticized the Pulitzer drama award to Robert Sherwood's "Idiot's Delight," said he thought "the play chosen for a first prize should have more distinction in writing, be a little more of serious consequence and significance in the theatre."

Other prizes were:
"For the most distinguished and meritorious public service rendered by an American newspaper during the year"—the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, "for its exposure of wholesale fraudulent registration in St. Louis."

Foreign correspondent—Anne O'Hare McCormick, of the New York Times.

Editorial Writing
Distinguished editorial writing—John W. Owens, editor of the Baltimore Sun.

Distinguished example of reportage—John J. O'Neill, New York Herald-Tribune; William L. Laurence, New York Times; Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press.

Editorial editor; Gobind Behari Lal, Universal Service; and David Dietz, Scripps-Howard Newspapers. This was an award of $1,000, shared equally by the five for their coverage of the Harvard University tercentenary.

Distinguished example of a cartoonist's work—C. D. Batchelor, New York Daily News.

Distinguished book on history of the United States—"Flowering of New England," by Van Wyck Brooks.

Distinguished American biography—"Hamilton Fish, the Inner History of the Grant Administration," by Allan Nevins.

Distinguished volume of verse—"A Further Range," by Robert Frost.

United States Attorney Ralph L. Emmons said Department of justice agents were instructed to investigate the death of Tom Martin, 45-year-old St. Regis Indian, in a Cornwall, Ont., hospital Sunday. Meanwhile, an Onondaga reservation Indian, Levi Frost, awaited sentence today in Federal Court for the fatal shooting of Alvin Stout in a Christmas Day drinking bout.

40-50-60 MILES AN HOUR! THEY ALMOST HAD THEIR MEN WHEN..BANG!...A BLOW-OUT!

Read S. S. VAN DINE'S description of Sgt. McCabe's thrilling man hunt.....

"There they are! Not more'n a quarter mile ahead of us. We'll overhaul these criminals before they reach the Bad Lands." Sergeant McCabe's voice was triumphant.

And just then a sharp explosion rent the air, and the police car leaped from the narrow road at a sharp angle and lurched crazily to a sudden stop in a rock-strewn sandy field.

"No chance now," the Sergeant complained. "They've escaped. We're beaten by a blow-out." The criminals did escape that time. But, thanks to Sergeant McCabe and his men, they were later captured. The solution to this havoc caused by blow-outs has seemed to me to depend on the manufacture of a safer tire. That's why the invention of the Life-Saver Golden Ply by Goodrich should be "good news" to every American motorist. As one of the Goodrich engineers explained,

S. S. VAN DINE
Celebrated author of mystery thrillers

"This Golden Ply, which is now found in every Silvertown Tire, is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. By resisting this heat, the Golden Ply provides motorists with real protection against high-speed blow-outs. It pays to play safe! Get your Goodrich Silvertowns today."

RONDOUT - HUDSON NAVIGATION NEWS

High water is still holding up movements in the Barge Canal with the section around the Genesee river tied up completely. At Lock 25, Mays Point, the tug, "Arthur Conners" of the Conners Marine Co., towing the oil barge, "Erie" in ballast enroute east, has been forced to tie up because of the water conditions. Other tugs and barges docked at Lock 25 are the tug "Calisto," with the barge "Troquois," the "Thomas A. Feeney" belonging to the Reliance Marine Corp. of this city, two Moran tugs and one Russell tug, all with oil barges enroute east.

The Conners tug, "Edwin Chilton," was in the Rondout creek Sunday to take on fuel oil and pick up the barges "O'Neill Brothers," "Marion O'Neill," "John F. Joyce" and "Thomas Mulqueen." This tug was bound for Albany and will stop at there to pick up two more barges, the "Berney" and the "M. C. Joyce."

The "Gramercy" and the "Bromberg" of the Conners Marine Co. passed Kingston Point Sunday with a tow of 14 barges headed for New York.

The "Oriental," a covered cement barge, now the property of Conners Marine Co., is completed at the Reliance yard. The boat was overhauled and repainted red and black with a large white "Conners" emblazoned on its side. Four similar barges are scheduled for a complete overhaul at the local yard.

The Hutton fleet and the Eagan fleet arrived at the Hitebrant yard Thursday.

The old Catskill ferryboat, "Beach," is being raised from its watery grave in its slip, by Charles McNally and Sons of Saugerties. The "Beach" burned and sank last fall.

Activity at the R. Lenahan yard has been so intense that night work was necessary to complete repair work on several barges that were in demand on the Hudson river and in New York harbor. At the present time four barges are being overhauled: The "Marjorie," used in general canal and river work; the "Dwyer No. 2," a cement boat used in New York harbor; the "Dwyer No. 2," similar to the "No. 2"; and the "Arthur C." a flat scow owned by Jacobus and Grauweller and used for carrying sand and gravel. There are about 43 men employed at the Lenahan yard.

The two Dwyer tugs, "F. Y. Robinson" and "James F. Dwyer," are pushing oil barges in the canal. The "James F. Dwyer" left the Hitebrant drydock the past week for New York, where she picked up an oil barge, and is now on the way up the Hudson, bound for Buffalo.

New FHA Home to Be Opened by Mayor

On Thursday evening, May 6, at 7 o'clock, Mayor C. J. Heitselman will officially open a new Federal Housing Administration Model Home at 33 Wilson avenue in the Roosevelt Park section of Kingston.

The home was built by F. H. Vogt, of Kingston, and represents the latest in modern design, convenience and construction. The house is built on a plot 75' by 120' and is set back 45' from the curb line, a feature which will be carried out in the construction of other homes on this block.

The home combines the better features of the Cape Cod and the Old Colonial home. It is constructed of brick veneer with an exterior coat of white cement. There is a garage attached to the side with a connecting porch tastefully latticed. The front is attractively landscaped, having evergreens and shrubs. The front also has a vestibule porch and hand made wrought iron rails.

The interior of the house is ultra-modern in its layout and fixtures. The kitchen and bath room are attractively finished and will be interesting to the housewife who desires the newest ideas in cleaning and working convenience and attractiveness in these two rooms. The heating system is equipped with an oil burner which provides all year round domestic hot water.

The model home will be open to public inspection from Thursday evening May 6 to Sunday evening May 9 between the hours of 2 to 9 p. m. It is expected that many future home owners will take advantage of this exhibition of a modern home.

Receives Baton

London, May 4 (AP)—King George VI received his baton as a field marshal today in a colorful prelude to the May 12 coronation ceremonies. Seven field marshals in full-dress uniform attended the presentation, the first official ceremonial in which the king and queen will figure as part of the coronation rites. Sir William Birdwood presented the inch-thick staff inscribed: "His Majesty, King George VI, Field Marshal, 11th December, 1936," the date of his accession to the throne after the abdication of Edward VIII.

New York, May 4 (AP)—Two police detectives said they obtained a signed confession of the mystery slaying of Irene Wadas, pretty waitress, who was hacked to death at the Columbia Residence Club on April 22, from a 31-year-old suspect today a few hours after he was arrested.

The officers who announced the confession, Lieutenant James Pike and Detective Peter Hyas, booked the prisoner on a homicide charge under the name of Leonidas Hamlikas, of 347 Forrest avenue, the Bronx.

Hamlikas, also known as Louis Karras, had been sought since the body of the young woman was found in the hallway residence of the club at 628 West 114th Street, where she had been a resident.

As related by the arresting officers, Hamlikas said in his statement that he waylaid Miss Wadas and plunged a nine-inch kitchen knife into her abdomen.

The officers had questioned Hamlikas since shortly after last midnight.

His first cry, they said, when he was arrested near his former place of employment at 271 East 161st Street, the Bronx, was, "I'm no killer—give me a chance."

Hamlikas formerly was employed as a counterman at the same restaurant where the 25-year-old Miss Wadas also worked.

County Court on Last April Case

A session of County Court was held in the supervisors' room at the court house Monday afternoon. Judge Frederick G. Traver presiding. A jury was drawn and the case of Jellico Realty, Inc. vs. F. Schilling Furniture Co. went to trial. Fowler & Connelly appear for the plaintiffs in the action and Cashin & Ewig for the defendants.

The Jellico Co., of which John C. Lencke is the president and treasurer, purchased the former Lorillard Refrigerator Co. building and leased a part of it to the Schilling Co. The action is to recover the amount due for December rent, but defendant interposed a counterclaim because of alleged damage to furniture, finished and unfinished, machinery, etc., because of a leaky roof.

Defendant by attorney admitted the debt of $112 for unpaid rent, but claimed as an offset $266 for damage to stock and machinery because of the leaky roof.

Following statement of defendant's case, Judge Joseph M. Fowler for the plaintiff waived any opening statement, but moved that the action for counterclaim be dismissed as not sufficient in law. Judge Traver denied the motion and the trial of the case proceeded.

This is the last case to be tried at the April term of County Court. Trial was held in the supervisors' room because of the fact that the court room was taken over for the May term of Supreme Court, which opened at 11 a. m. Monday, with Judge Pierce H. Russell presiding.

Ernest Quick Pleads Guilty. The trial was halted briefly Monday afternoon while Assistant District Attorney LeVan Haver arraigned Ernest Quick, 37, of Atwood. Through his attorney, Chris Flanagan, Quick pleaded guilty to the charge of driving while intoxicated.

Judge Traver imposed a sentence of 60 days in the Ulster county jail and added a fine of $200.

Quick was arrested on July 18 last by Troopers Reilly and Metzger, on the Stone Ridge-Atwood road. It was charged that he was a second offender and on arraignment before Justice L. D. Sahler at Stone Ridge he was held for the grand jury and had since been out on bail.

Following the selection of the jury in the Jellico-Schilling case Monday afternoon the remainder of the jury-men were discharged.

A Child Guidance Feature

TRAINING 'EM YOUNG

This little girl at the Chicago University nursery school is only two but she does a pretty good job of pouring milk from her own pitcher.

WHEN A CHILD REFUSES TO EAT, DON'T SPANK HIM—TEMPER HIM

By AURELIUS KINSEY
AP Feature Service Writer

Chicago—What can you do with the child who balks, dawdles or messes over his meals?

Miss Catherine Landreth says it's wrong to use songs, stories, pleadings, scoldings, threats, forced feedings or spanking. They merely give the child a stronger spotlight of attention, for which most children strive in one way or another.

She should know whereof she speaks for she faces plenty of "young problems" in her role of assistant professor of home economics and director of the Chicago University nursery school.

She contends that teaching a child to eat, with good manners, all the food placed before him should be a matter of gradual training from the time he can first feed himself.

8 Hints for Mamas

She advises parents to

1—Check the child's general health to see that he gets enough sleep and outdoor play.

2—Prepare wholesome foods as attractively as possible, serve reasonable portions at regular intervals, leave the food before the child for a while and then remove it without comment.

3—Make a child taste—but don't force him to eat all of food he says he dislikes. Next time, serve the food in a quantity small enough that he will recall the last taste.

Bright Colors Help

A youngster's eating is greatly enhanced, she says, by giving him brightly-colored table appointments which he can handle comfortably himself. He should have a spoon he can grip firmly, steep-sided dishes that keep the food in place, and a small pitcher for pouring milk.

And it's not too early to start training when the baby makes his first awkward attempts at cooperation and independence, Miss Landreth maintains.

He can be started with a high chair but should be moved to his own low table and chair as soon as he learns to handle eating utensils. The next step is the adult's table—but not until he has thoroughly mastered manners and understands he is to leave a clean plate.

Masonic Birthday Celebrated Monday By Rondout Lodge

Two Hundred Years of Grand Lodge Masonry in New York State Appropriately Observed with Special Services by Local Masons.

In the year 1737, Grand Lodge Masonry came into existence in New York state with the first lodge located in New York city, and during the past two centuries Masonry has grown until today it numbers its members in New York state by the thousands with hundreds of lodges. The anniversary of Grand Lodge Masonry was appropriately celebrated Monday evening by Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M.

An historical sketch of the formation and growth of Grand Lodge Masonry was given by Donald H. Schoonmaker, master of Rondout Lodge, and was followed by the showing of movie pictures, furnished by the Grand Lodge in New York, and depicting the early days preceding the Revolutionary War and during the war period. These pictures brought home in a striking manner the part Masons had played in the days of the Revolutionary War.

The Craftmen's Club of the lodge had also prepared a program of entertainment. Little Adele Furman gave two tap dances while her father, Howard Furman, played several selections on the musical saw.

While the audience was heartily applauding Mr. Furman and his talented daughter, there was a sound of strange music from the anteroom and the lodge doors suddenly swung open and in marched a quartet of musicians, one playing a harmonica, another an accordion, another a snare drum while the fourth carried a big bass drum. To the strains of "Hail, Hall, the Gang's all Here," the musicians paraded around the lodge and then came to a halt and the leader, John F. Romulus, who played the snare drum, announced that the musicians would lead the audience in community singing and asked them to call out their favorite songs. Rodney DuBois played the accordion, Carl Spiegel the harmonica, while Al Reese handled the big drum.

Leader Romulus explained before hand that the quartet had not had much practice, but they managed to avoid plenty of noise. Following the concert the Craftmen's Banquet, the social committee served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

Today Grand Lodge opens its sessions in New York city and Rondout Lodge is being represented by its master, Mr. Schoonmaker, who left early this morning for New York.

He Died Climbing

Somewhere in Switzerland a grave-stone marks the final resting place of a certain Mountain Guide, and on it are these words: "He Died Climbing." Could anyone ask for a finer epitaph?

To continue to grow and expand our personalities straight through to the end—that is the ideal living. As long as we have minds to think with, hands to work with, and a will to command things, we can climb up to better things. Improvements in the birthright of every man, woman and child. Dr. Charles Mayo says: "We are using only a small part of our brains today. The unused parts are unlimited." Life offers us challenging peaks to scale!

We like this inspiring poem by Florence Earle Coates:
Thank God, a man can grow! He is not bound
With earthward gaze to creep along the ground;
Though his beginnings be but poor and low,
Thank God, a man can grow!

Two old settlers, confirmed bachelors, sat in the back woods. The conversation drifted from politics and finally got around to cooking.

First Old Settler—I got one of them cookery books once, but never could do nothing with it.

Second Old Settler—Too much fancy work in it, eh?
First Old Settler—You've said it! Every one of them recipes began the same way: "Take a clean dish."

"..." and that settled me.

Read it or not—The bill for $1,890.60 for the funeral expenses of President James A. Garfield, assassinated by Charles Guiteau, has never been paid by the United States government.

Sambo Johnson left the house after two or three weeks of stormy married life, and in about a week returned by the back way, pried open a window and crawled in.

Mrs. Rastus Jackson, next door, saw him come out, bent under the weight of a wash tub, washing board and wringer.

Mrs. Jackson—Sambo, where you takin' dat paraphernalia?

Sambo—To pawn 'em. Dat gal ain't gwine to vamp nobody wiv mah weddin' presents.

It costs us more to avenge our wrongs than it does to protect our rights.

Carolyn—Well, I must go. I have an engagement with mother.

Robert—My dear, is it possible that you have a mother living?

Carolyn—Yes, indeed; and she doesn't look a day older than you!

Sunday School Teacher—Charles, can you tell me why the lions didn't eat Daniel?

Charles—Couldn't, but another bright boy had an answer ready—Because most of him was grit and the rest backbone.

A sock in the shoe is worth two in the eye.

May Blossoms—The most effective gospel is preached by an upright life. . . . God forgives, and men forget, but most women never find it out. . . . War debts are always hard to collect. In fact all gambling debts are. . . . It is not always the man in front who is the leader. . . . It's hard to get the best of some men—they haven't any. . . . A man measures his life in years; a woman hers in loves. . . . Some radios are seen but never heard. . . . One cannot understand others until one understands oneself. The honey-moon is over when he forgets to drive with one hand.

Need More Forage On Short Notice

Ithaca, May 4 (AP)—"Something must be done to insure feed for dairy herds," says Professor E. Van Alstine of the New York state agricultural extension service.

"There is no one best thing to do," according to the Cornell agronomist. He offers the following as possibilities for New York dairymen:

Top dress old meadows to make them produce more.

Re-establish a new seeding, where last year's seeding was a complete failure, by discing and sowing a meadow mixture with or without oats to be cut for hay.

Seed oats to be cut for hay where last year's seeding was only a partial failure. Seed with a disc drill without previous discing.

Sow oats alone, oats and peas, or oats and vetch to be cut for hay. Sow with or without a meadow seedling mixture.

Sow Sudan grass, millet, or soybeans for hay; put up more silage; make silage of higher feeding value than usual by including legumes (soybeans, peas, clover, alfalfa); plant corn or sorghum for dry fodder; buy hay; sell cattle.

Summer Cottage And Contents Burn Near West Hurley

Woodstock, May 4.—A summer cottage near the New York Central Railroad overpass in West Hurley, owned by Steve Fisher and occupied by Mrs. Caroline Holcombe was completely destroyed by fire shortly before noon on Monday, in spite of the fine work done by the Woodstock Volunteer Fire Co. Mrs. Holcombe was away at the time and a rubbish fire was started by her son, Arthur Holcombe. When the fire became out of hand Mr. Holcombe called Woodstock, reporting a fire in West Hurley. Actually the fire was in the Woodstock fire district and had he known this, the ensuing difficulties could have been avoided and the house probably saved. As it was the fire had set fire to the house before the arrival of the Woodstock engine.

The Woodstock Volunteer Fire Co. was unable to go immediately to the fire, since the alarm had been for an out-of-town fire. The company is not permitted to attend a fire in a district which holds no insurance on the Woodstock company. Actually the Woodstock fire commissioners had been notified on Friday that such a policy had just been taken out for the West Hurley, Maverick and Glenford districts but no written notice had been filed with the Woodstock commissioners, only a few of whom even knew of the matter. When an emergency meeting of a few members could be held the commissioners in Woodstock authorized the engine and volunteer company to attend the fire. The company arrived almost immediately after the order, but were unable to save the house in spite of the fact that hose and apparatus were working in record time, and promptly quenched the fire.

Fire warden, David Hillson, of Phenicia was called to the scene and with a crew of fire fighters brought surrounding brush fires under control.

Furniture and clothing in the house had been removed to a short distance but caught fire and were also destroyed.

Mr. Holcombe had tried vainly to extinguish the fire, which spread from a rubbish incinerator he says he thought had gone out, and called several times for help.

"AT LAST WE GOT OUT OF THE 'ALL THREE' CLASS"

"NOW WE'RE DRIVING A GREAT BIG NASH—AND IT COST JUST A FEW DOLLARS MORE"

There may be a "thought" for you... in this story about Mr. H. J. Hampton!

"For the last two years I'd been secretly longing for a big car. Not that I've any fault to find with the 'All Three'... they're good cars. But when I heard you could get a 117-inch wheelbase Nash LaFayette '400' for just a few dollars more than the 'All Three' cars... I lost no time. And, believe me, it's really grand to be driving a big luxurious Nash!"

Look at the picture. See what you get. A luxurious, big, 117-inch wheelbase car. It has a 90 horsepower six cylinder engine—remarkably economical to operate. You get larger double-action hydraulic brakes, stronger all-steel body, extra-wide seats, more headroom and legroom. You get so much extra value in the Nash LaFayette '400'—yet it costs just a few dollars more than any of the "All Three."

See the Nash Ambassador Six and the Nash Ambassador Eight. See the extra value Nash gives for your money.

Stock Trading at Low Point Monday

Central European bankers, meeting at Basle yesterday, gave warning against present world-wide tendencies in the economic field, that might lead to another boom, to be followed by a crash. The seventh annual report of the Bank for International Settlements, referring to the increased output of gold, saw the problem of a deficiency of the precious metal turning into one of an oversupply.

In local foreign exchange quarters the belief was expressed that the heavy movement of gold from England to the United States was slowing down.

Stock trading yesterday was at the lowest point for a full season since June 5, last year. Industrials and utilities were up slightly, rails were off a shade. Commodities averaged slightly lower, corporate bonds were steady and governments were a little higher.

Oil company dividends featured the domestic news yesterday. Standard of New Jersey declared an extra dividend of 75 cents; Standard of Indiana will pay 15-cent extra; Ohio Oil voted 50 cents on common vs. last year's payment of 35 cents.

General Motors declared $1 dividend on common vs. 25 cents three months ago. Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the company since 1923, was elected chairman of the board. Lamont du Pont declining re-election. William S. Knudsen becomes president.

Among first quarter net earnings reports were:

Coca-Cola $3,803,289 (balance available for common stock after Class A dividend requirements) vs. $2,660,057 last year.

R. C. A. $2,243,057 vs. $1,268,691.

Walmart Co. $542,369 vs. $10,475.

Brunswick-Balke-Collender $110,195 vs. $58,922 (net loss).

Park & Tilford $165,304 vs. $42,187.

National Tea Co. $109,829 vs. $22,632 (net loss).

National Power & Light reported net of $7,094,578 for year ended December 31, 1936, vs. $6,296,835 in 1935. Timken-Detroit Axle's 1936 net was $2,160,202 vs. $1,173,202 in 1935.

United Carbon's first quarter sales are running approximately 25 per cent ahead of a year ago; estimated profits for period is $716,000, a record for any three months period.

Steel Institute schedules operations this week at 91 per cent, off 1.3 points from previous week.

Worthington Pump's new business for first quarter is estimated at around 75 per cent ahead of a year ago.

Standard Brands proposes to issue 200,000 shares of new preferred stock to retire $7 cumulative preferred.

T. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. expanded its sales by over $700,000 more than 32 per cent in two years, reaching $289,313,165 in 1936, report to SEC shows. American Tobacco sales in 1936 were $229,800,339; P. Lorillard $67,127,693; U. S. Tobacco $17,850,094.

150,000 Murderers Roam U. S., Head of Vice Group Reports

New York, May 4 (AP)—Promising a realistic war against racketeering, Harry F. Guggenheim asked members of the New York State Chamber of Commerce today to contribute to the $200,000 war chest of the Citizens' Committee on the Control of Crime in New York.

Guggenheim, president of the committee, spoke at the chamber's 169th annual meeting.

To illustrate the toll of crime, he said police records show an average of one out of every 25 persons in the United States is inclined toward criminality.

"There are today in America 150,000 murderers roaming at large," he added. "Statistics show that during the lifetime of those who form our population, 200,000 persons will commit murder before they die, and more than 300,000 will be murdered."

Of racketeering in New York city, the speaker said:

"I am willing to prophesy that unless the city's rackets are exposed and smashed and unless the racketeers are locked up or cleared out there is not one of you who will not in due time be given the alternative of 'Pay up—or else!'"

Guggenheim paid tribute to the anti-racketeering campaign under Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey and recalled that Dewey was appointed by Governor Lehman.

59 Convictions—Dewey

Dewey, the speaker pointed out, "has in 59 indictments brought to trial secured 59 convictions."

The committee, he added, "is neither a group of vigilantes nor reformers; we are not a 'shoot 'em from the hip' squad nor are we a group dealing in theories and abstractions."

He explained the purpose is "to strengthen the machinery of the law and to secure the cooperation of every citizen in helping to enforce the law."

"Mr. W. P. Beazell, former day managing editor of the old New York World, has been appointed executive director of the committee."

Michael J. Ward Found Dead in Chair

Michael J. Ward, an elderly man, who resides with his son, Michael A. Ward, at 21 German street, arose as usual this morning and attended Mass in St. Peter's Church, and then walked home and was sitting in a chair on the porch when fatally stricken with a heart attack. The aged man had been dead for some time before his death was known. His daughter-in-law saw him sitting in the chair, but thought he was asleep and did not attempt to awaken him until later in the morning. When she could not arouse him she realized that he was dead and called Dr. Frank L. Eastman, who pronounced death due to a heart attack. Coroner Lester D. DuBois of the Paltz, who was called, issued a death certificate and turned the body over to Undertaker James M. Murphy of Broadway, who took charge of the remains. Funeral services will be announced later.

New Lumber Co. Established Here

Kingston is to have a new lumber business, operated at the former Walter S. Darling yard, 450 Washington avenue, by two well-known lumbermen, Ferris J. Davis and Lester G. Clark, who were connected with the Island Dock Lumber Co.

The new concern will conduct its business under the name of the Clark & Davis Lumber Co., and will handle all kinds of lumber and building supplies. Shipments will be received next week at the yard, which is being cleaned.

Up until a month ago the Darling yard was used by the Island Dock Company, with Mr. Davis in charge. Mr. Davis, who resides at 59 Clinton avenue, was employed by the lumber company and formerly with the Darling firm for 22 years. During this time he established himself as one of the best known lumbermen in the trade around Kingston.

The partner of Mr. Davis, Lester G. Clark, was employed by the Island Dock company for 14 years, joining the staff as a member of the office force after finishing Kingston High School. He resigned his position yesterday to enter the new business. Mr. Clark resides at 126 Clifton avenue. He is married, his wife being the former Cornelia Terwilliger.

When interviewed by a reporter, Mr. Clark said that Walter J. Keator of Tilson would be interested in the new company, lending financial backing, and also that other men prominent in business affairs of Kingston would join the company in the same capacity.

George VI "Crowned"

London, May 4 (AP)—George VI was "crowned" today with neither pomp nor ceremony.

In fact, he was "crowned" four times.

The King paid an unheralded visit to Westminster Abbey to rehearse for his coronation May 12 and practiced the ritual with the Archbishop of Canterbury for two hours. He wore a coronation robe over his civilian suit.

Queen Elizabeth accompanied him and rehearsed part of the procession.

Divine Probe Has Approval of Grand Jurors Association

Matthew Van Tassel, since its organization one of the most active members of the Ulster County Grand Jurors Association, was elected president at the annual meeting of the association held at the court house Monday night. Mr. Van Tassel has been acting president of the association since the death of Robert W. Flemming. Other officers elected are: Minard Elmendorf, Hurley, vice-president; Thomas J. Murphy, Kingston, treasurer; Henry J. Macholdt, Kingston, secretary.

With a view to securing more widespread representation on the board of directors it was voted to increase the number from five to 15 and the following were named: Thomas J. Murphy, Kingston, chairman; Minard Elmendorf, Hurley; Henry G. Macholdt, Kingston; Albert Wilkins, Walker Valley; Edmund Felder, Al King, Kingston; Harry Sullivan, Ellenville; William Falk, Ulster Heights; Arthur E. Merritt, Highland; Henry Roth, Sagerties; Henry Winchell, Olive Bridge; Walter Margroff, Cliftondale; Edward Freleigh, Leon M. Giles, Kingston; A. V. Dayton, Jew Paltz.

There was a general discussion of the Father Divine movement and its ramifications in Ulster County and a situation that might arise in case the number of Divine followers in the county should reach large proportions and then suddenly should find themselves cut off from their present financial backing. Following the discussion a motion was passed approving the action of District Attorney Cleon B. Murray in conducting a grand jury investigation of the movement as it affects Ulster County.

The matter of drunken driving, which has heretofore had the attention of the organization, was brought up, but discussion was brief as President Van Tassel suggested that the district attorney and the senator and assemblyman from this district are doing everything in their power to bring about a lessening of the evil.

Thomas J. Murphy, chairman of the committee named to draw up a set of by-laws for the organization, reported progress. The committee hopes to have the by-laws ready for submission to the Association at its August meeting.

The officers of the association feel well pleased at the growth that has been made to date. About 40 members were present at the meeting Monday night, representing all sections of the county. Following the meeting refreshments were served and Magician Red Van Deusen entertained with sleight-of-hand tricks.

Last Ditch Fight To Save Bilbao

Et. Jean De Luz, France, May 4 (AP)—Basque defenders of Bilbao fought a last ditch fight today to save the city and make possible the evacuation of at least a few thousand women and children.

Spanish insurgent dispatches said Gen. Emilio Mola's troops were advancing into the mountainous region north of Bilbao and that their artillery commanded the Nervion river, Bilbao's water outlet to the Bay of Biscay.

Basque reports declared, however, that government soldiers were holding their ground west of Bermeo, a fishing town about eight miles north of Bilbao.

The Basque government said 3,000 Italian troops in the insurgent army were killed in an assault when they were cut off from their base at Bermeo.

An indication was seen of Basque fears that their capital could not hold out in the fight to France of the wife and children of the president of the government, Jan Antonio Aguirre.

They reached Biarritz yesterday.

Herzog's Store Downtown, Closed

Herzog's Inc., and the wholesale departments will be found at the warehouse diagonally across Fair Street at the corner of North Front Street.

When the Messrs. Herzog bought the former Mitchell House hotel property the three story and basement building was entirely remodeled and made into a modern warehouse. The various rooms of the property are fitted with bins or shelves for the storage of merchandise and each room is designated on a chart in the office to show just what merchandise is contained in the room. This method makes it possible to maintain a constant inventory sheet to indicate just how much stock is carried and assists the warehouse employees in readily filling orders as they come in. The heavy hardware is stored in the basement where concrete floors were placed and on the first floor are several display rooms where complete showings of material are assembled for inspection of customers.

FORMER KINGSTON PRIEST CONDUCTS O'NEIL FUNERAL

New York, May 4 (AP)—The body of Municipal Court Justice John F. O'Neil, who was stabbed fatally last week by an unidentified man, was buried here today.

The Rev. John J. Hickey, pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, and who years ago served as an altar boy with Justice O'Neil, conducted services which preceded interment.

Uniformed attendants of the municipal court served as a guard of honor. Many of the city's past and present officials were among the crowd which overflowed the church.

Justice O'Neil was stabbed in the back last Tuesday while waiting for a bus to take him to his office. He died last Saturday morning.

Wise Labels Hitler
Kansas City, May 4 (AP)—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise says he considers

Adolf Hitler a "madman" who is "out to destroy civilization". In an address last night opening the annual Jewish Welfare Federation campaign here, the New Yorker asserted Jews were "the first victims for Hitler to attack because we are numerically weakest" and that the German's speech of last Saturday presages "You of the Catholic Church are next." "And you Protestants who think you are safe should know that you will follow," Rabbi Wise added.

SHOKAN

Shokan, May 4.—Miss Caroline Wase of New York was a week-end guest at the Winchell farmhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Bostock came here Saturday from Bryn Athyn, Pa., to spend a week at their place on the mountain road. Mr. Bostock is a lawyer with offices in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt Osborn of Athens were numbered among the many callers in the village Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Dalgier are at Chalet Indien on the north boulevard after having spent the winter in Florida.

William Windrum returned to Brooklyn Monday. Mr. Windrum enjoyed a week's vacation sojourn at his state road place.

Local interest this week is centered on the school meetings in districts No. 3 and No. 4. Voters of the former, or Shokan district, will elect a trustee for the full term, the office now being held by Alva Winchell, chosen last month to fill the vacancy in the board caused by the death of Daniel Sampson who had been trustee for several years. Louis Theil of Shokan has looked after the affairs of district No. 4 for about ten years.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wendt, accompanied by their son, Herman, motored up from Long Island and spent Sunday at their place on the state road.

Kingston people in the village center Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Amasa Slauson and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Winchell.

A marriage of May 2, 1857, was that of Jason Barclay to Susan Miller, both of Olive, by Elder Jacob Winchell of the old school Baptist Church. The Barclay homestead was on Tonche Mountain. The couple were grandparents of Mrs. Martin Guinac of Ashokan.

Raymond Cruthers and family of Ridgefield Park, N. J., were week-end visitors to their country home on Church Hill.

Mrs. Robert B. Peck and son, Bobby, are at their place near Tice TenEyck for a few days.

The ground is now sufficiently dried out to permit general spring plowing in this section, and this work will be in full swing for the next two weeks. A few farmers already have done considerable plowing and are ready to put in some of their early crops.

David Conlin and sons returned to South Norwalk, Conn., Saturday, after rustling here for several days. The Conlins while in town motored to Saugerties and called on relatives in that place.

The large forsythia bush in the Elmendorf front yard on the corner attracts much attention these days. Many of the villagers have set out one or two of these shrubs and their yellow blooms at this time are a pretty sight.

Mr. Fred Brooks and son of Phoenix were numbered among the out of town people here Sunday.

Walter Naughton of Fleetwood, who is a regular summer visitor to Shokan, was a week-end guest at Long Meadow Farmhouse.

William Tueling, Jr., is home again after having been in Southern California for several months.

Frederick Herschenroder, Jr., came up from New York to be with his parents over the week-end.

Miss Helen Gilmora has returned to Brooklyn after spending a few days at the Windrum cottage.

One farmer reports having seen more blacksnakes in April than during the past several years combined. Snakes are not common in the north reservoir country, though the harmless black ones are still fairly numerous in stone walls and in the old stone heaps formerly used as markers by surveyors in laying out farm boundary lines.

Eugene McCafferty of New York was at his mountain road place Sunday.

Double preaching services were conducted by Elder A. H. Bellows of West Hurley in the Baptist meeting house Sunday.

Harvey Slikworth of the village center is one of the few older residents who spent their early days in a log cabin. Mr. Slikworth has a distinct recollection of helping his father, the late Henry Slikworth, saw out space for a window in their log home along the Bushkill stream.

Of the scores of log cabins built by the early settlers in this part of the county, only one, on the Winchell farm, remains standing. This cabin is said to have been erected, probably before the Revolutionary War, by an ancestor of Postmaster Edwin M. Secor of Ashokan.

WHITFIELD

Whitfield, May 4.—The Ladies' Aid of the Reformed Church will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon May 5, at 2 o'clock, standard time at the parsonage. All the ladies are asked to be present if possible.

Calvin Wood spent Sunday afternoon with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Haviland Barley, and little daughter, Susan Gay, of Kingston, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Barley.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sahler, and family, returned home from Florida, after spending the winter there. Their many friends are glad to welcome them home.

Hat Matches Bag

That's the latest accessory news. Here's a burnt straw handbag designed by David Lewis and trimmed in brown grosgrain ribbon. The bag exactly matches the burnt straw hat that's trimmed in three rows of the same ribbon. The suit is of tan linen.

TALK AND MAKE FRIENDS

Again Ann's the center of attention, charming the boys with her sprightly conversation.

It's no accident that she's the most amusing talker in her crowd. She noticed that conversation is an art that can be learned. So she studied it.

Tongue-tied Jill longs to be a good conversationalist, too. But she spends her time berating herself.

"What a dud I am. Why can't I think of something to say. Why do I always have to act as if the cat's got my tongue?"

Right there Jill reveals her shortcoming. She's thinking about herself—not about interesting the others. She should join Ann's circle and listen. She'd see how Ann fascinates people by passing out a bit of praise, asking opinions, leading others into adding bright remarks to make the conversation sparkle, mentioning their special interests and hobbies.

"Jack!" Ann begins enthusiastically.

"You're marvelous at the rumba! Smooth as silk compared to these clowning brothers I saw in the movies. Did you see the picture, Ned? . . . Remember how they almost threw their hips out of joint?"

By the way, did you like the new star? . . . (Cue for Ned to give his opinion of feminine movie stars)

I wish you'd seen the picture, Jack. I'm sure you, with your passion for trick photography, could have figured out how they took those underwater shots of deep-sea divers. Do you suppose they were faked?"

Our 40-page booklet, IMPROVING YOUR CONVERSATION, tells how to acquire skill with words, what to talk about, conversation etiquette. Charm with your talk.

W.S. Knudsen Head Of General Motors, Sloan Board Chief

Detroit, May 4 (AP)—William S. Knudsen became president of General Motors Corporation today, succeeding Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., who moved up to the board chairmanship with broad executive powers in policy development and finance.

A statement by Sloan issued last night in New York following a meeting of the directors said changes in the corporation's organization involved "a broader distribution of the executive load" to permit concentration of more attention on the policy phase, "becoming, through evolution, of greater and greater importance."

A dividend of $1 a share on common stock was declared payable June 12 to stockholders of record May 13. A regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 was declared on the $5 preferred stock, payable August 2 to stockholders of record July 6. Knudsen, executive vice-president since 1933 and a prominent figure in last winter's successful strike parley with government Frank Murphy and labor leader John L. Lewis, came to the United States from Denmark at the age of 20, a mechanic looking for opportunities.

Born in Copenhagen March 25, 1879, Knudsen was interested in bicycles but after working in a ship-building plant and a railroad boiler shop finally entered the infant automobile industry and advanced swiftly with it.

He was factory manager for John R. Kelm Mills in Buffalo, N. Y., when the Ford Motor Co. purchased it in 1911. He leaped ahead in the Ford organization, having charge of construction of domestic and foreign assembly plants, boat building during the World War and finally automotive production in Detroit.

In 1923 he joined General Motors Corporation. As vice-president in charge of Chevrolet production he jumped output in one year from 76,000 to 340,000 units.

Sloan's statement said Knudsen "will assume complete responsibility as to administration of all the corporation's operating divisions and subsidiaries other than those of a strictly financial nature."

Two new vice-presidents were elected. They are Marvin E. Coyle and Floyd O. Tanner, the latter in charge of labor relationships.

The finance and executive committees were abolished and two new committees, both headed by Sloan, created to deal respectively with policy administration.

Lammot duPont declined reelection as chairman of the board in view of the enlarged operating responsibilities now attached to that position.

Zucca Receives a Real Assignment

Paul A. Zucca, who is quite apt to find himself "it" when it is a question of selecting someone to provide music for public functions in this section, was handed an assignment the other day that has him wondering just where he will come out.

Zucca was named chairman of the committee on music for the campfire of the Greene-Elster Boy Scouts, to be held in Kingston June 4, 5 and 6 and which it is expected will be quite the biggest thing in the line of a Scout gathering ever held in this part of the country. The other members of the music committee are E. J. Ward, Julius Teller, Ward Rejcek and Robert Hawley.

A few of the suggestions for proposed activities of the music committee are:

Provide music for the opening campfire Friday night, June 4.

Develop song sheets, stunts and entertainment.

Provide bands for the parade Saturday afternoon; a band for the field events to follow the parade, from 3:30 to 5:30 and a few individuals to assist at the Saturday night campfires.

Provide music for the fellowship service to be held Sunday morning.

THE EMPIRE ON PARADE

Queen Elizabeth

Heavy The Crown

Too weighty for comfort, the traditional crown (below), made for Charles II in 1662, is worn only a moment. It is replaced by the imperial crown. Left, head of the scepter containing the Great Star of Africa cut from the Cullinan diamond. Right, the ampulla which holds the oil of anointment.

Elizabeth

Margaret Rose

PRINCESSES ROYAL. Elizabeth, next in line to the throne, and Margaret Rose are the two children of Britain's king.

King George VI

BORN TO RULE. Picture of a baby who became a king.

AND THEN A PRINCE... saw this little mistress of Glamis castle, fell in love with her and made her his queen.

NO CARES THEN. Affairs of state meant nothing to him when the boy who was to be George VI posed for this.

The King's Men

Wave on wave of military ranks from the one-quarter of the world under the English flag participate in the royal pageantry. Here are swaggering Highlanders, mystic Royal Orderlies from India and strapping jack tars of His Majesty's navy.

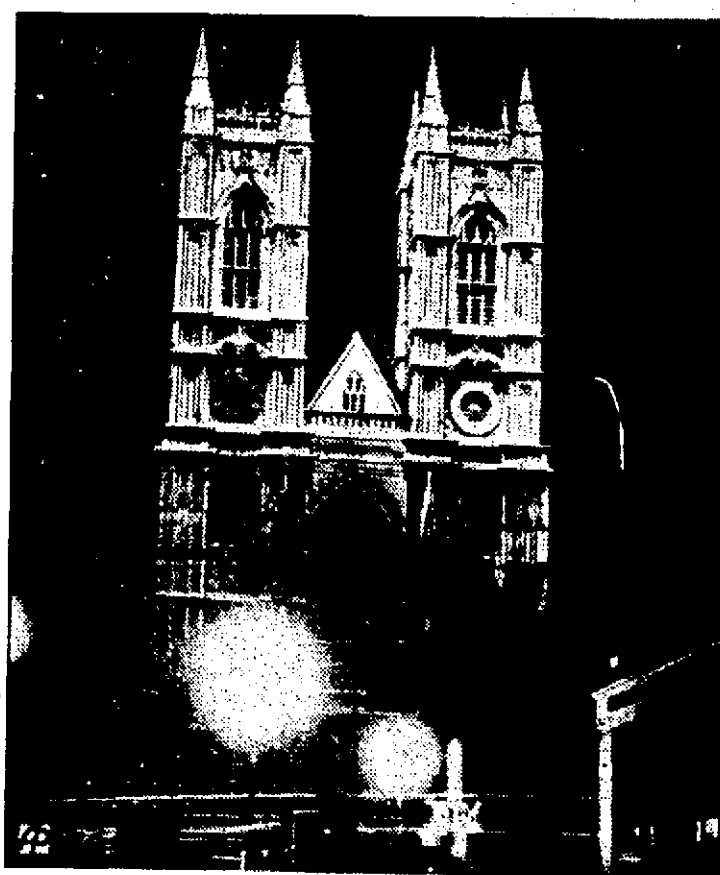

KING-MAKER. Since the twelfth century it has been the office of archbishops of Canterbury to anoint the kings of England. The Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang (above), now the archbishop, will crown George VI.

KING'S SEAT. Captured from the Scots in 1297, this chair has been used for English coronations since. Beneath its seat is the "Stone of Scone" which tradition says was the original Jacob's pillow.

Queen Mother Mary

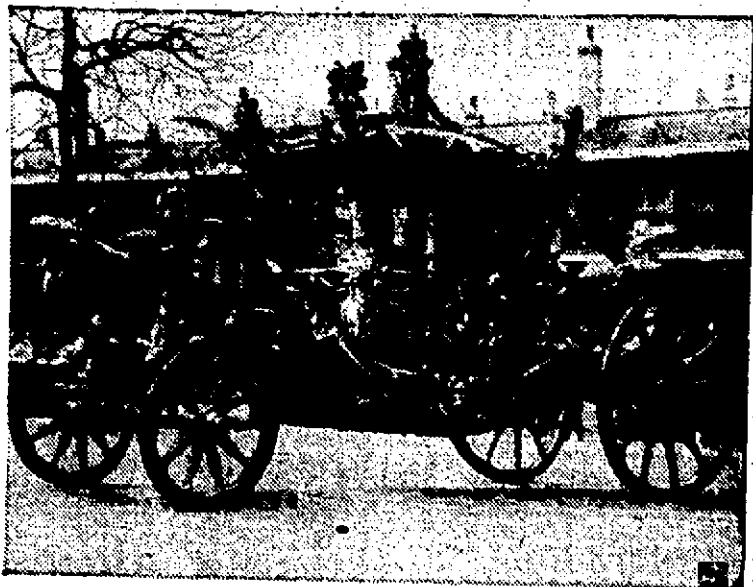

ITS 36TH SHOW. Brilliant twentieth century floodlights glorify the old stones of Westminster Abbey, some of which date to 1066. It is its thirty-sixth coronation, but its first to see such innovations as radio and newsreels.

DUCHESS. A picture of the Duchess of York, now Queen Elizabeth, when she visited at Harrow several years ago.

KING'S HORSES AND GOLDEN BUGGY. The eight royal greys now used for English coronations mark a change. The World War ended importations of the famous cream-colored horses from Brunswick for the royal stables. Right, the royal coach, resplendent in gold leaf and numerous emblems and figures, is a vehicle of many symbols. It is 176 years old. Practically every part of the Empire is represented in the decorations. At top is the royal crown.

YEOMEN OF THE GUARD. London's picturesque regiment, the guards who still wear uniforms of the original sixteenth century yeomanry, march beside the royal coach.

PILOT. As the Duke of York, England's new king was a wartime Royal Air Corps pilot.

Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Arline Judge's marriage to Dan Topping immediately after her divorce from Wesley Ruggles

must have set a record for speed in ending grass-widowhood. . . . The previous record, as I recall, was held by Bruce Cabot and Adrienne Ames, who were married the day after Adrienne's divorce from Stephen Ames. . . . Back in 1919 it was practically a national catastrophe when Mary Pickford got a Nevada divorce and shortly afterward married Douglas Fairbanks. . . . But times have changed.

The well-known Mrs. Grundy has changed too, or gone to sleep. . . . In other film days she'd have frowned and spoken her piece about actresses who have their escorts and their husbands. . . . When the Marquis de la Falaise de la Coudraye is out of town it's always Gilbert Roland who is seen with Constance Bennett. . . . And it's Douglas Fairbanks Jr. who goes around most with Marlene Dietrich when Rudolph Sieber is abroad.

Underworld Melodrama—“Internes Can't Take Money” is a smart new example of what can be done with pretty hackneyed material. . . . Joel McCrea and Barbara Stanwyck have the leads in a hospital picture which develops into an underworld yarn, all because a young mother cannot find her baby, lost since infancy. . . . The hero, an interne, can't take money for saving the life of underworlding Lloyd Nolan, but he can enlist his services in cowering with only one shot fired—the heavy (Stanley Ridges) who knows where the baby is. . . . What makes it different is the screen play by Rian James and Theodore Reeves, and Alfred Santell's direction. Original shot: Ridges goes to door to see if butler is eavesdropping—and he isn't!

A Snappy Musical—“Wake Up and Live” is one of the snappier Twentieth Century musicals. It's the Winchell-Ben Bernie film, and while Bernie occasionally looks like a juvenile, both the “feudists” are hits. . . . In this picture Jack Haley gets his best break and can be called the real star. Besides Alice Faye, who keeps on proving that she can handle bigger assignments if she gets them, there are Patay Kelly, Ned Sparks, and a flock of “specialties” including Joan Davis. Miss Davis is a fall guy-de luxe.

SHANDAKEN—Shandaken, May 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Townsend of Kingston were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Gossow recently. Mr. and Mrs. Gossow have both been ill, but are convalescing.

Miss Annabelle Ford of Hempstead, L. I., spent the week-end at her home here.

Little Edward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Townsend, is home from the hospital and is improving. . . . Mrs. Agnes Foughy and Mrs. G. H. Gulick, Jr., motored to New York City last week.

The official board of the M. E. Church met at the church on Friday evening. There was also choir rehearsal and a Sunday school board meeting.

The members of the cast of the Home Bureau play met at the home of Mrs. Cleaveland on Saturday afternoon.

Scout Troop No. 61, of Shandaken, held a meeting at the school building on Thursday evening under the supervision of Scoutmaster Burroughs Blakeslee.

Mrs. Van Bramer, Mrs. C. E. Wood and Mrs. Earl Holden attended the card party of the Olive Rehekah Lodge at Olive Bridge on Wednesday evening.

Miss Aylida Moore of New York City has been engaged to teach the primary department of the Shandaken school, made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. J. Bongartz.

Mrs. V. F. Bernesser has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Capek, New York City last week, returning home on Friday.

Ois Jansen, of Spruett, visited friends in this place on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wood were weekend visitors on Friday.

J. V. Bisbee, of Phoenix, was in Shandaken on Saturday.

Russell Miller, who has been spending the winter here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Miller, has returned to his position at Lake Mohawk.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the church hall on Thursday, May 6.

The following are the arrivals for the week-end at their respective summer homes in Shandaken Country Club Colony: Frank Seery, of New York, J. Herbert Low, of Brooklyn, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bowser, of Telford, N. J.

Miss Ruth Richards, who has a winter home in Camden, S. C., has arrived at her summer home, The Yellow House, in the Shandaken Country Club for a few days. She spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Osterhout on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Osterhout, and daughter, Peggy, visited Mrs. Osterhout's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Churchill at Highland Sunday night.

There was exceedingly heavy traffic over the week-end, especially on Sunday over Route 28 through this section.

Careful computation indicates that American participation in the World War, dating from April 6, 1917, under the Armistice was signed, November 11, 1918, has thus far cost the United States approximately $60,000,000,000. The cost in American lives was 50,475 soldiers and sailors killed in action or dead of wounds and disease, another 234,000 were wounded.

NO TROUBLE WITH PICKETS

These chorus girls in a musical film production were able to “crash” through the picket lines to their movie set despite a strike of studio craft workers in Hollywood. The strike threatened serious curtailment of movie production.

COP STANDS BY IN STUDIO STRIKE

Although four movie workers' unions declared a strike which threatened to spread to other film unions, work went on just the same at Hollywood's major studios. The only difference on the set at one studio was the presence of a policeman at the entrance to the stage, passing on chorus girls in the cast of a musical production.

W. Dean Hays Was Interested in Item

An item in the Glenville Democrat, published in Glenville, Gilmer county, W. Va., recently was of special interest to W. Dean Hays of Fair street. The item, which was a copy of advertisements which appeared in the Ulster County Gazette, published in Kingston in 1800, brought the former home of Mr. Hays and his present home in close relation. Mr. Hays was a former editor of the paper which preceded the “Democrat,” and it was from the Glenville, West Virginia, Normal School that he was graduated.

The item which interested Mr. Hays and which brought his former home and his present one together was a copy of an advertisement which was published in the Gazette on January 4, 1800, and which has been widely copied. It read:

“Negro wench. Any person inclined to purchase, know the particulars by applying to John Choonmake, Jun., at Rochester: November 13th, 1799. Peas For sale or will exchange for wheat. John Tremper, December 28, 1799.”

The item was copied by the Glenville paper from what probably was a reprint of the Gazette and which was loaned by Fred S. Goodwin, Milton, Pa.

The item in regard to the sale of a slave was of interest to Mr. Hays since his grandfather owned 36 slaves on the ancestral plantation in West Virginia. Mr. Hays said his grandfather bought slaves but never sold any and the last of the former slaves died on the plantation about seven years ago at an age of over 100 years. His name was Napoleon Bonaparte and he died but a short time prior to a visit which Mr. and Mrs. Hays paid to the plantation.

All this “news behind the news” that columnistic insiders drag to the light would be more convincing if the wise boys agreed with each other.

Broadway: “Marked Woman.” Based on the history of one of New York's most slimy racketeers, this bold, hard hitting story tells of the clip joint business and of the girls who earn their living in that manner. But the plot centers around one girl especially, a girl who is sending her younger sister through school, and who is doing her best to get along pleasantly with the boss of the racket. But when her sister is found slain the girl goes to work and exposes the whole reeking setup. The play is grim and crusading in spirit, the dialogue is crisp and dramatic and Bette Davis, returning to the screen after a successful publicity vacation in England, is brilliant as the girl who tells all for the sake of others. Humphrey Bogart, Eduardo Ciannelli, Lola Lane, Isabel Jewell, Mayo Methot, Allen Jenkins, Jane Bryan and Rosalind Marquis are featured in a strong cast. A Warner Brothers picture directed by Lloyd Bacon.

Kingston: “Racketeers in Exile” and “Let's Get Married.” Two average features is the kind way of explaining the Kingston program, the first a story of some unemployed racketeers and how they get along despite the depression in their business. George Bancroft, Wynne Gibson and Evelyn Venable are featured. “Let's Get Married” is the other one, a comedy with a self explanatory title.

Orpheum: “Stolen Holiday” and “Easy To Take.” Kay Francis, the screen's greatest sufferer, continues to have a hard time of it in this tale of a woman who made a bad mistake in the past and whose present is always filled with the dread that the past will sometime show itself. Claude Rains and Ian Hunter are in the supporting cast. “Easy To Take” is the other feature, a satire on radio that is laughable and entertaining. Marsha Hunt, John Howard, Jan Duggan and Eugene Pallette head the players.

Tomorrow
Broadway: “Romeo and Juliet.” The most tragic love story in the English language makes its belated appearance on the Broadway screen and it comes with the approval of the world critics that here is motion picture art at its finest. For this production, despite its expensive and brilliant cast, is screened with an artistry seldom found in Hollywood productions and the magic of Shakespeare's verse is lyric in quality and pleasant to hear. This story of two ill fated people, a boy and a girl torn apart because their two houses are warring against the other, is one of the great love stories of the world, and Norma Shearer contributes a Juliet of unusual charm, sincerity and a haunting frailty hard to describe. Leslie Howard is excellent as Romeo but one of the stand-out performances is the work of John Barrymore. Others in the gigantic cast are Edna May Oliver, Basil Rathbone, Andy Devine, Ralph Forbes, Conway Tearle and Reginald Denny. A four star triumph from the M-G-M studios.

Kingston: “Man of Affairs” and “The Crime Nobody Saw.” George Arliss plays a dual role in the best of the features at the Kingston and this English made picture is charming as it tells of a man who goes around doing good under an alias. Mr. Arliss is supported by a British cast. “The Crime Nobody Saw” is a whirlwind murder mystery with Lew Ayres and Ruth Coleman costarred. It is exciting and mystifying.

Orpheum: “When You're in Love.” Grace Moore sings her way to new laurels in this musical picture whose locale is the tropics and whose story concerns a great opera star obsessed with passport troubles. It is gay, stirring entertainment with a cast which includes Bary Grant.

Finishes Insurance Course

John F. Nelson of Lucas Avenue returned to Kingston on Saturday from Hartford, Conn., where he spent three weeks taking a course of training at the home office of The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company. Mr. Nelson was one of a group of 30 selected by the company from 14 states to be given a comprehensive training in the fundamentals of life insurance. He is well known in Ulster county, having been a department manager of Rose and Gorman's store for many years.

Mrs. Frank Campbell of Frewsburg, N. Y., uses a 100-year-old butter bowl every week to do her churning. The bowl was scraped out of a large butternut knob by her grandfather, and has been in almost continuous use in the family for a century.

Jack Dawkins Confident About Good Season for Kyanize Nine

City Baseball League Meeting at City Hall, 7 p. m.

Managers and officers of the City Baseball League are asked to be present at the City Hall this evening at 7 o'clock sharp as matters of great importance are to be discussed. This meeting umpires will be selected by the moguls and as there is quite a few applications it is necessary that the season gets started early. Five teams have signed to enter the league and unless another team makes application tonight the league will function with the five teams.

Saugerties Game Is Postponed

Coch G. Warren Kias, director of athletics, stated that the scheduled baseball contest between Kingston and Saugerties High at the Athletic field tomorrow afternoon has been definitely postponed. The contest was slated for Wednesday afternoon, May 5, at 3:30, but due to the postponement will probably be re-scheduled for a date later in the season. Vacancies in the latter part of the season are available for the re-booking of the traditional home-and-away series as the first contest originally scheduled for April 28 was also postponed due to the upriver diamond's poor playing condition. Thus, as a result of the postponement, the traditional contest will not clash until the closing weeks of the season.

Coch Cliff Miller's diamond squad will, therefore, not see action again until Saturday when they engage Port Jervis in a DUSO League duel at the Athletic field at 2:30. The locals lead the loop with a victory due to their early start and will be gunning for their seventh straight win in DUSO competition during the past two campaigns.

Sande Arrives at Churchill Downs

Louisville, Ky., May 4 (AP)—Earl is in town again. It's been five years since the great and feared Churchill Downs but he "hardboots" will never forget the sandy guy from Idaho who rode three Kentucky Derby winners. They speak his name almost in reverence when recalling the deeds of derby greats. Earl is not here to ride in the 33rd running of the derby. Those days are over. But he has two horses in the Sceneshifter and Fencing that may have something to say about the division of the $50,000 purse late Saturday afternoon. "They've got an outside chance," Sande today as he watched his horse breeze over the Churchill Downs oval. "Yet I'd say they have a little better than an outside chance."

Batteries for the Kinney team were Saunders and McCausland. Clair received for the Aces' pitching wizard. Teams wishing games with the Aces see Irv Mauer or phone 2253-M between 4:30 and 6 p. m.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

The right mental attitude is a wonderful thing, as witness the case of Gerald Walker, fast-flying right fielder of the Detroit Tigers and, at the moment, American League batting leader and a front-runner in virtually every department of play.

Gerald was the king-pin of the Tiger attack today as Mickey Cochrane and his men opened a home stand against the eastern clubs, led by the World Champion Yankees. Simultaneously, the White Sox, Indians and Browns were entertaining the A's, Senators and Red Sox. In the National League, eastern teams played hosts.

Walker had in recent seasons been criticized for head-strong or over-impetuous base-running that robbed him of hits and his mates of scores. Gerald took those cracks to heart, with the result that his game suffered.

This spring, however, he decided not to pay any attention to what he read about himself in the papers. As a result, he's been going like a streak.

He was in there again yesterday while the Tigers took another half game margin on the second-place Yankees. Though Rookie Pnt. McLaughlin lasted only three innings in his first starting game, Detroit collected 19 assorted hits off four assorted White Sox pitchers to win, 12 to 9.

Biggest blow of the afternoon was Hank Greenberg's homer with the bases loaded. Not only did it start the Bengals on their winning way, but, as big Hank's second four-bagger of the young season, it was fairly conclusive evidence that his wrist isn't bothering him much any more.

Walker chimed in with two hits as the first five men in the Detroit batting order—Jo-Jo White, Cochrane, Charley Gehringer, Greenberg and Walker—bagged 13 of their team's safeties.

With the Indians and Browns rained out and the other teams unscheduled, the Tigers and White Sox were the only ones active in the junior circuit.

In the National League the four eastern clubs engaged in intra-mural war while awaiting the arrival of the league-leading Pirates and other westerners.

At Boston, Billy Weir won his first 1937 game for the Bees in a pitchers' duel with the Giants' Hal Schumacher. Each team bagged six hits, but the Bees bunched four of theirs in one inning to gain a 3-1 victory.

Furlin-Feldman Slugfest on Top for Card Friday Night

Home Ladies Try For Laurels Tonight

Rochester, N. Y., May 4 (AP)—The home town lady keggers, unable to date to match the pin-plecking of the visiting bowlers, will make another bid for the money tonight in the Women's International Bowling Congress.

Nineteen Rochester teams are entered.

Out-of-towners again created a jumble in the leader list of the congress last night, with Plainfield, N. J., Milwaukee and Monomonee Falls, Wis., pin-pleckers stealing the show. First and third positions in the singles and numerous lesser positions fell before the wizardry of these ten-pin experts.

Mae Noll of Plainfield, N. J., spilled the sticks for a 631 count to take the lead away from Margaret Frank of Chicago, whose 627 had held up for two weeks. Mrs. Noll's scores were 218, 211 and 202. Her total is 19 plus better than last year's winning score rolled by Ella Burmeister of Madison, Wis.

Third spot in singles was earned by a comparative newcomer in big league bowling, Marianne Mueller of Monomonee Falls, who reached 615 on scores of 199, 244 and 172. With a chance to grab first place, Miss Mueller bumped into a series of splits that held her total down.

(Doubles, team and all events unchanged.)

Finals in A. B. C. Doubles, Singles

New York, May 4 (AP)—Finals will be written to the American Bowling Congress Tournament today, when the final doubles and singles schedule is completed late this afternoon.

The team title was awarded to the Krakow Furnitures, of Detroit, who scored 3,118 April 9, on games of 929-1,092-1,050 to top the main event and the 1,917 teams entered. The five members of the lineup will receive diamond studded medals as well as $1,000 as a team prize.

Second place went to the Waldorf Golden Becks, Cleveland, whose 2,111 total netted the team $900. The Windy City Bowling Association, of Chicago, will receive $825 for third prize.

Eleven teams beat the 3,000 figure in the main event, equalling the former record set at Peoria, Ill., 1927, where Milwaukee's Tea Shop scored the all-time high, 3,199.

A total of 686 prizes will be awarded teams in the regular division while an additional list of 821 prizes will be offered the booster teams. Prize money in the regular division will be $43,151 and $20,475 will be split among the boosters. The money is awarded to high totals on the various squads during the tournament.

Glens Falls Golf Tourney in Sept.

Glens Falls, N. Y., May 4 (AP)—Glens Falls Open Golf Tournament will be played in September this year, instead of August 27, 28 and 29 as originally scheduled. Tournament officials decided on the change yesterday. Chairman Stephen T. Birdsall said, adding that approval of the Professional Golfers Association has been asked for the new date.

Joe Furlin, the betting Middletowner, who can't make up his mind whether he wants to turn professional or not, will return to the Municipal Auditorium ring Friday night, to put on another of those slugfest bees for which he is noted.

And, whether Joey plans to walk in and slug, he'll have to do just that anyhow, because his opponent will be none other than Jackie Feldman, Schenectady bomber, the boy who stopped Eddie Steele, several weeks ago.

The Steele fight had the fans on edge until Feldman of the fighting clan by that name finished the match by sending the Dutchkopsie Wildman down to defeat, after he had fought his way to the reputation of being unbeatable in Kingston.

Feldman is a hard puncher and a smart fighter, a brother of Ake Feldman, prominent professional heavyweight, who has had just as many fights, but all in the amateur ranks. His win over Steele made him popular with local fans of fastana, who probably will pack the auditorium to see him slug it out with Furlin.

Furlin, a veteran campaigner in the squared circle, too, always remarks when the name of an opponent is mentioned, "Bring him on, I'll fight anybody." If he ever had his hands full, he will next Friday, say those of the mayor's industrial committee responsible for bringing the two together.

Furlin announced several months ago that he intended to turn professional, but has decided to remain in the amon pure class for a while longer.

Supporting the feature is a list of scraps, all of which look like main bouts. Phil Elkins, the only boy to beat Tommy Zano, who has turned pro, will mix it with Eddie Steele for five rounds. Joe Triola, Albany lightweight star, will tangle with Benny Murrell of Hudson, and Kid Chapple, Kingston, in a match with Mario Severino for the other five.

The three rounders: Joe Tantillo, 125, Highland, vs. Vic Oliver, 127, Ellenville. Joe Turck, 125, Kingston, vs. Billy DeFries, 127, Albany.

Johnny Castor, 147, Highland, vs. Billy Peltz, 145, Albany. Reserved seats are on sale at the auditorium. The phone is 3718. Proceeds of the fights go to the industrial committee.

Bonomi Sues To Get $10,000

Attorney John A. Bonomi's action to recover $10,000 damages for injuries sustained on June 7, 1935, when his car skidded on the state road in front of 11 North Main street, Ellenville, and he was injured and his car badly damaged, was taken up for trial before Supreme Court Justice Pierce H. Russell and a jury in Supreme Court on Monday afternoon. Attorney Bonomi, who resides in Ellenville, is bringing the action against Benjamin Cherney, also of Ellenville, and owner of the property which is used as a gasoline station.

Attorney Bonomi's contention is that Mr. Cherney was negligent in permitting his tenants who operate the gas station to build a ramp over the sidewalk, and that during heavy rains the material used in the construction of the ramp was washed out onto the concrete highway.

In his opening to the jury Attorney Bonomi, who is prosecuting his own case, assisted by Attorney William A. Kaescher as counsel, said that he had some friends in Ellenville who had expressed the desire to visit Huling's Barn, just over the Washington avenue viaduct and that he had brought them to Kingston that evening and that they had spent some time at the Barn, and had left for Ellenville about 2 o'clock in the morning.

A heavy rain was falling at the time the return trip to Ellenville was made. After leaving his friends out of the car at their home Mr. Bonomi proceeded on to Ellenville and claims that when he was passing the gas station that his car skidded and turned completely around and crashed into a tree. He said he was found about half an hour afterward. In addition to suing to recover for personal injuries Attorney Bonomi is seeking to recover damages to his car, amounting to some $400. His car, he said, was a 1934 Dodge.

Attorney John J. Scully, who appears for Mr. Cherney, has entered a general denial to the allegations made by Mr. Bonomi and denies that Mr. Cherney was negligent in any way.

The case was continued this morning in Supreme Court.

Justice Russell called the day calendar at the opening of court and arranged the calendar as follows:

No. 144 on, 275, 164, 9 and 10, 48, 5, 62, 64, 102, 118, 124 and 136. There will be no court Friday because of a regular special term which will occupy the courtroom.

700,000 Fish for Streams by July 1

Albany, N. Y., May 4 (AP)—A stream-stocking record of 700,000 legal sized fish by July 1 was predicted by State Conservation Commissioner Lithgow Osborne today.

He urged patience upon fish and game clubs seeking speedy delivery of fish for planting.

"Plans were made to resume stocking operations early in March," the commissioner said, "but the only real snowstorms of the winter came that month, and made roads impassable, particularly in northern New York. Naturally this caused delay in distribution."
